Republican Opposition to His Confirmation.

BUT HE WILL BE CONFIRMED There are Some Men Who Will Kick Out of the Party Traces-Washington Gossip.

WASHINGTON, December 19-[Special.]-It is now evident that the republicans intend to do all they can against the confirmation of Mr. Lamar. In the senate today there was no seport from the judiciary committee, but be-fore the senate met the committee held its for the senate in the purpose of discussing the first meeting for the purpose of discussing the reminations. While it sat with closed doors, this much is known, that all the members were present except Evarts, and that the republicans discussed Lamar's political record, shile Pugh, of Alabama, warmly defended it. No vote was taken, and the matter was referred to a sub-committee composed of Ed-munds, Hoar and Pugh. This ordinarily look bad for Lamar, but there is be told. Knowing the feeling in the ath about the matter, I went to a well known cratic senator, not connected with Lamar in any way, and was told the following:

"You can say to your people that Lamar will be confirmed and I know it. It is true that some republicans, who had promised to vote for him, have backed down because of the presbrought to bear upon them by their party, there are yet others who will vote for him who will not recede from their promises. arty has determined to defeat him if it can, and it will make a desperate fight, but I know what I am talking about, and I tell you

The senator was asked if it was true that a democratic senator who had not spoken to Lamar in twelve years, would oppose him. He "Every democrat in the senate will vote for

All. Savyer said that his object was to have the subject referred to the postoffice commit-tee, where it properly belonged.

Mr. Saulsbury said the subject had been be-fore the postoffice committee for six years, and had been fully considered by it. Refer-ence to a select committee would be a vote of a want of confidence, either in the ability or willingness of the postoffice committee to deal with the subject. Mr. Butler disclaimed any idea of reflecting in the remotest degree upon the postoffice committee, and he withdrew all opposition to the motion to reconsider, and consented to have the matter referred to the postoffice committee. The vote was accordingly reconsidered, and the subject of postal telegraphy was referred to the postoffice committee.

Mr. Fugh offered the following resolution, and proceeded to address the senate in sup-whether congress would wipe out all revenue taxes and allow the necessary internal revenue taxes and allow the necessary revenue to be raised on tariff imposts alone. He had never clearer or stronger conviction than the conviction that the whisky tax was perfectly just and wholly unobjectionable, expept on the ground that it was a direct tax. There was nothing produced, owned and consumed that could supply the government with ninety millions of revenue, with more propriety and less injury to any human being than whisky. He had never heard any valid reason, and did not believe there was any valid reason, why whisky drinkers should be relieved from the payment of this tax, and why the revenue which it yielded should be extorted by a tariff from the consumers of the necessaries of life. He knew of no better use to which whisky could be applied than to the production of the nicety miles. from the consumers of the necessaries of life. He knew of no better use to which whisky could be applied than to the production of the ninety millions of revenue necessary to pay pensions and interest on the wardedt, instead of extorting that amount from the harmless consumption of imported articles.

Who insisted, he asked, that the luxury of whisky drinking should be freed from the burden? Was it whisky drinkers, or whisky makers, who declared there should be no revision of the tariff until every internal revenue tax was repealed? It was not. The cry came londest and fiercest from the manufacturers and their representatives. The most defiant and uncompromising advocates of free whisky were the manufacturers of protected articles. As a general compromise, he would repeal the internal tax upon tobacco, for the sole reason that tobacco was an agricultural product, and let the tax on whisky stand for future consideration. He declared that he would vote for no duty on any article manufactured in the United States that would cripple any home industry, or impair the ability of the home competition. No people, he said, had ever submitted so long to robbery on the part of their own government, and those who opposed a revision of the tariff at the risk of fipancial panic and industrial paralysis become parties to this robbery, and become political criminals. Both the republican and democratic parties had promised to reduce the income to the wants of the government, and it was triding for the republicans. MURDER IN A MANSION to charge upon the democratic party the blame of the failure to revise the tariff. This congress could not adjourn until such change was made in the revenue laws as would stop the flow of money from the people into the national treasury beyond the needs of the government. He would put on the free list chemicals and raw wool of all low grades, and salt, and might add other articles to the free list. He was not in favor, however, of putting iron on the free list. Doing so would be regarded by the ore land owners and ore workers of Alabama, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia as an act of unjust discrimination in favor of foreign iron ores. As to pig iron, on which the present duty was $6.72 per ton, he believed that a duty of $5 per ton would be ample. He made these remarks to show that there was not the least danger to the iron ore and pig iron interests from any reduction of the tariff. President Cleveland had in his recent annual message shown a courage and patriotism never exhibited before by any public man in his position and with his surroundings. There could be no mistake as to what the president believed to be the paramount duty of congress. There was not a single sentence in the message that was not the truth and the whole truth.

At the close of Mr. Pugh's remarks the resolution was ordered to be laid on the table.

Considerable opposition to this reference was expressed by members who wished to have the resolution sent to the committee on claims. Finally, after debate, the previous question was ordered—yeas 163, nays 84—and the resolution was adopted.

A number of resolutions suggesting changes in the rules were presented and referred to the committee on rules, among them the following:

All members but Senator Evarts, who is out of town, were present. The nomination of Mr. Lamar was taken up and his political record was discussed. Senator Pugh appeared as the foremost schampion of the nominee, addressing his colleagues at considerable length in justification of Mr. Lamar's pas' course. The hour for the meeting of the senate arrived before the subject had been exhausted, and its further cousideration was postponed till after the holiday recess. There is no delay in preparations for the construction of the new armored battle ship, and the keel of the vessel will be laid in about two months.

The bill reported received the unanimous indorsement of the committee on education, and contains but one slight change from the bill as it passed the senate last session. It provides for a total appropriation of $79,000,000, to be expended in eight years. The report accompanying the bill, among other things, says:

Although the committee believe that no measure of greater, if there be any of equal importance, will engage the attention of the senate, they have not deemed it necessary to enter upon the general discussion of the bill, or to enlarge upon a serious nature of the public emergency which requires its enactment.

* The measure was d. vised and has been pressed to secure the removal of the alarming and increasing liliterary and tits baneful corsequences and not as a means of expending susplus revenues, although their existence removes all excuss for a failure to pass it. The bill was proposed before the large surplus existed. It anould become a law even if additional taxation were necessary. * * Illiteracy grows with the country, and keeps full pace with its increase in population. The increase of populations adds continually to the number who require attention, while the means of education are not and cannot, and therefore will not, be provined without temporary assistance from the funds of the nation. The temporary aid proposed in the bill should have been given at once upon the close of the war. To bestow it now is but to provide a long deferred obligation, the neglect of which has already greatly enhanced the grave perils to the nation of the republic. M'GARIGLE'S RESCUERS.

Chicago, December 19,—The trial of Dr. Leonard St. John, Leir Dell and Captain Freer, who, together with Dr. Irwin, were indicted for conspiracy in aiding the escape of Warden W. J. McGarigle from the county jail, was begun today. Dr. St. John was treasurer of the college of physicians and surgeons, as well as being a member of the staff of the county hospital, of which McGarigle was warden. Dell was janitor of the college. Irwin commanded the Canadian schooner Blake, owned by Dr. St. John and his brother Frederick, a prominent attorney of St. Catherines, Ont. Captain Freer commanded the Chicago schooner Marsh, to which it is claimed McGiragle was transferred on the Blake while going through the straits of Macinaw. Captain Irwin never came back to Chicago. The morning session of the court was broken up in the attempt to select a jury.

CHARLESTON, S. C., December 19.—A Greenville special to the News and Courier says that a daring attempt at robbery was made in Laurens county last week. John Dagnoll, a farmer, had $500 hidden in his house and happened to mention the fact to his brother-in-law. Dagnoll left home one day expecting to be absent over night, but for some reason returned late the same afternoon. During the night he awoke and found three men in his room. He seized a large bowie knife and cut off the ear of one of the robbers and stabbed him in the cheek. The others escaped. The wounded man proved to be Dagnoll's brother-in-law, and he is now in Laurens jail.

STOLEN BONDS RECOVERED.

Whereabouts,

NASHVILLE, Tenn., December 19.—The chief of police of this city today found bonds to the amount of $10,500 secreted under the floor of a house recently occupied by the burglars who were captured here last week. The bonds are a part of $55,000 worth stolen in Tompkinsville, Ky., a few weeks ago, when that town was sacked and burned. One of the five burglars, now on his way to Tompkinsville in the custody of a Knoxville officer, today made a confession and told where his share of the booty could be found. Cyrcago, December 19.—Judga McAllister this morning decided that the city ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquor to minors was void. A few days ago Oscar Matthia, who keeps a concert saloon, was arrested for selling wine to Linnie St. Clair, a 16-year-old girl, who was abducted by a young man whom she had met in concert saloons. Matthia applied for a release under the habeas corpus act. The judge held that that portion of the ordinance which revokes the saloon keepers' license on the second offense is unconstitutional. Among the grounds for this opinion are that the general corporation act does not give the city council the power to levy fines not to exceed $200, eral corporation act does not give the city council the power to levy fines not to exceed $200, and imprison the offender not to exceed six months. A forfeiture of license is neither a fine or imprisonment. Again, the dram shop act provides a punishment to saloon keepers selling to minors, except in cases where the minor brings a written request from the parent. The ordinance punishes the selling or the giving away of a drink regardless of such requests, thereby contravening the statute. Matthia was discharged, and the decision gives great joy to the saloon keepers.

Attempted to Wreek a Train.

Marlboro, Mass., December 19.—An attempt was made at Northboro last night to wreck a passenger train from Boston, on the Old Colony railroad, due there at 7 o'clock. Seven sleepers had been wedged in between and across the rails half a mile above the station, but the ice and snow on the track had the effect of causing the obstruction to slide along ahead of the engine after it was struck. Footprints in the snow showed that the attempt was deliberate, and it is regarded as miraculous that a disaster was averted. There is no clue to the miscreant who placed the obstruction on the rails. KILRAIN AND SMITH IN THE RING They Stand Up for Two Hours and a Half When the Referee Stops the Fight-Both Men Stubborn to the Close,

LONDON, December 19 .- The international ontest between Jake Kilrain, of Baltimore, and Jem Smith, of England, for a diamond belt and the championship of the world, took place on the Island of St. Pierre, in the river seine, France, today, in the presence of about one hundred persons. There was no police in-terference. G.W.Atkinson, referee, performed his duties with satisfaction to all concerned. Fleming and Hardin acted as timekeepers and umpires. The fight was remarkable for the persistent wrestling of the men. In the fourth round Smith was knocked nearly silly by a terrific blow on the ear. Though Smith had the worst of the falls, he fought splendidly under great difficulties and was as fresh as Kilrain when darkness stopped the fight, at 4.45. One hundred and six rounds were 4.45. One hundred and six rounds were fought, lasting two and a half hours.

Before the tight began odds of three and four to one were freely laid on the Englishman, but all the bering, stopped as the fight narrowed itself into a question of endurance. Not once or twice, but many times, it looked like an easy win for Kilrain, but the indomitable pluck of the burly Englishman, who invariably came up with a smile, equalized matters. Not to enter into an elaborate description of each of the 105 rounds, it may safely be said that fiercer, fairer fighting has rarely been seen. There were cries of "foul," but a "foul" was never seriously claimed backers never dreamed and had rather the best of the fight, as they got into the record hour. On the other hand Smith's determined rushes and indomitable pluck over and over again raised the hopes of his backers.

Betting was on Smith at the start, veering to Kilrain. Later there was much wrestling instead of fighting. Smith had the best at the start, and forced the fighting. Kilrain had the advantage in wrestling. In the eighteenth round Kilrain hit Smith on the left ear, causing a swelling the size of an egg and knocking him down. Kilrain's right eve was closed. The fight varied until the fifteenth round, when Kilrain led until the nineteenth, knocking down Smith three times, and being knocked down himself once. And When the Central Train Leaves This Morning Will Take a Start.

A small white boy, who gives his name as Charles Noble, was a guest of Chief of Police Connolly, at policeheadquarters yesterday and last night.

Inst night.

The boy was classed as a runaway.

Of Master Noble nothing is known except what he says himself. His parents reside in Savannah. Several months ago he ran away from home, going to Texas, where he worked. Finally he became tired of his place in the lone star state and managed to reach Atlanta. After reaching Atlanta the boy came to the coffclusion that he would like to return to his parents, and early yesterday morning called conclusion that he would like to return to his parents, and early yesterday morning called upon Chief Connolly to whom hel told his story, asking for assistance in reaching his home. The chief secured the address of the boy's father and telegraphed him during the morning, at the same time instructing the boy to remain at police headquarters until an answer could be secured. Last night the boy's father telegraphed Chief Connolly the price of a ticket to Sayannah with instruction to send the boy home. Master Noble will leave for Sayannah this morning at 6:50,

The New Orleans Cotton Report. NEW ORLEANS, December 19.—[Special.] New Obleans, December 19.—[Special.]—
New York's decline today was very unexpected in the face of the Liverpool advance on spots, as well as futures, owing principally, our New York dispatch this afternoon says, to selling by houses there representing outside interests, whose constituents doubtless sold on war rumors, which several cables today from Liverpool and continent pronounced absurd. Certain influences cabled from here today to Liverpool that the Cotton World would tomorrow linerease like settmate, hopping to affect the market there. The cotton world, however, cables the Li—pool cotton exchange tonight flatly denying it, and re-affirming its original estimate, saying daily Information from country convinces them of its correctness. Bears are leaving no stone unturned. Our circular issued on the 9th instant, showing our compilation and tabulation of 259 replies from the country and indicating a crop of six million two hundred and thirty-clight theosand eight hundred and fifty-nine bales, is doubtless before many of your readers ere this. If the country is correct in its information to us, then our conclusion should be correct, as we know our calculations to be so.

The reporter didn't ask if business was good. About a dozen were standing before the bar; so the next question was:
"Who got the first drink, Mr. Lynch?"
A tall gentleman just to the right put his glass down suddenly and coughed violently.
"Here he is," said Mr. Lynch, as his hand came down peacefully on the tall man's shoulder.

WORK OF MOONSHINERS.

Two Revenue Officers Meet Death While Performing Their Duty. Mr. W. H. Chapman, of the revenue services has received authentic information of the killing of Thomas Bannister and Robert W. Terrell in Marion county, Ala., seven or eight days ago, while on their way back to Hamil-rell in Marion county. Ala., seven or eight days ago, while on their way back to Hamilton.

The men stopped at a house all night. They discovered early in the night that their mules had been stolen, but put off pursuit until morning. After breakfast the next morning they started in pursuit, and had gone but a short distance when they were shot down. Bannister was killed instantly and Terrell mortally wounded. They were killed by moonshiners, it is supposed, because of information furnished the government against those violating the revenue law.

It is said thata sad state of affairs exists in north Alabama. On Sand mountain, where the escaped convict Kirk was killed about the first of the month, it is alleged, are many men who have fled from Georgia to escape punishment for infractions of the revenue law.

In October last over-one hundred men were arraigned before the United States district court at Huntsville, Ala., for illieit distilling. The trial of such a large number of men naturally excited attention and enlisted sympathy. Congressmen Wheeler and Bankhead arranged with Mr. W. H. Chapman, as it was thought at that time, a happy solution of the matter. The parties were brought before the court and informed that their sentences would be suspended if they would enter pleas of guilty and agree to quit distilling, surrender their stills by November 15th, and give all information they might possess to the revenue officials concerning illicit distillation.

The prisoners accepted the terms and signed the agreement. While a number of the man have conformed to their agreement in good faith, there have not. The state of affairs in that section is one of unpleasantness, and the end is not yet. It is feared that much bloodshed will be the result in any event. The revenue officials are determined to enforce the law vigorously, and if the moonshiners resist there is likely to be trouble.

WHILE HELPING IN ANOTHER ARREST

A Crime of Ten Years Ago Brought to Light by the Arrest of One of the Principals.

DAHLONEGA, Ga., December 19 .- [Spe cial.]—This week's issue of the Signal gives a story of remarkable detail. It seems that eight or ten years ago a man named Barnes was murdered near the line of Fannin county, Georgia, and Polk county, Tennessee, the man's head being split open with an axe from which he died in a short time. Joseph B. Myers was suspected of committing the murder and he fied from the county, nobody knew where. He was searched for and a large was offered for his arrest. Time passed and the murder was forgotten, and the murderer was not found. On Wednesday last a lawyer of Maysville, Jackson county, accompanied by a man calling himself Myers, of the same county, came here with a warrant against "Devil" Jim Higgins, of this county, for kidnarping. The warrant charged county, for kidnapping. The warrant charged Higgins with kidnapping a child on the 30th of last month from Mrs. Meyers. She was the mother of the child by a former husband named Ray. The child was a relative of Higgins, and he wanted it; so he took it and brought it to his home in this county. Myers requested Marshal Townsend to accompany him to assist in the enforcement of the warrant or the recovery of the child. Higgins lives about eight miles from here and on arriving at the home of Higgins everything was in confusion. The two men were met by the whole Higgins family, one of the boys having a gun, another one of the family an ax, and so on. The marshal, who is also a constable, read the warrant, when Higgins surprised the officer by stating that Myers was the murderer of Barnes and that he had fed and harbored him many days when Myers was biding from arrest. The officer was surprised, but having a recollection of the murder, and also having been told before that Higgins had fed and harbored Myers, he immediately placed Myers under arst, and summoned Constable Walker, of that district, to assist him.? He then placed Myers under Walker's care and proceeded to arrest Higgins, on the charge of kidnapping. The two prisoners were brought to town and, Hig-gins having agreed to give up the child, the warrant was dismissed against him and Myer was committed to jail.

Myers acknowledged to Sheriff Satterfield that he had hit Barnes in the head with an that he had hit Barnes in the head with an ax in Tennessee, but did it in self-defense. Others here claim that the murder was committed in this state. There is some dis pute and the sheriff is now investigating the matter. He wants information on the subject and has sent out a person to seek it. He asks that anybody knowing anything will please inform him. The arrest was quite a novel one, as the marshal was not expecting affairs to turn out that way. He had not even suspected Myers before of being a murderer, but when Higgins named it the whole thing flashed into his mind at once. Since the murder Myers had settled in Jackson county and was doing well at farming.

THE MAYOR ASSAULTED.

A Lively Time Between Two Prominent Savannah People.

Savannah, Ga., December 19.—[Special.]—
The most remarkable secrecy has been preserved by many parties involved in a scene of violence that occurred Saturday afternoon in the city exchange, when the mayor, Colonel served by many parties involved in a scene of violence that occurred Saturday afternoon in the city exchange, when the mayor, Colonel Rufus Lester, was set upon by Mr. J. H. Hentesy, the proprietor of the Industrial flour mill. In the afternoon Hennesy, for a second time, sought the office of the mayor to get him to proceed against the proprietress of an old established house of ill reputation on McDonough, near Habersham street. Mr. Hennesy's tesidence is in that section of the city, and the baxistence of the establishments that disgrace the neighborhood of South Broad and Houston streets is a nuisance to himself, in common with every other resident of the vicinity. As is well known, lewd houses line South Broad street from the portals almost of the police barracks for blocks extending east.

Mr. Hennesy's little son, a few days ago, wandered into the neighborhood of Lizzie Ryan's house, and was blackguarded by the proprietress as an Irish puppy. The indignant father went twice to the exchange, and demanded of the mayor that he furnish him redress. He was much excited on Saturday, and engaged Colonel Lester in conversation in the clerk's office. Accounts of what followed vary somewhat. It would seem that the mayor said:

"Come in my office, and I will explain that!"

Mr. Hennesy and the mayor went in, and the door was closed. Presently the sounds of a difficulty in progress were heard by those who occupied Mr. Rebarer's office at the time. General Anderson, Officer Fahrenback and Mr. Rebarer rushed in, and discovered the mayor and Hennesy in a violent struggle upon the floor of the chamber. Hennesy was dragged off with difficulty, the officer and himself both receiving slight scratches.

The mayor declined to prosecute the case. Hennesy, according to one account, leaped upon the major from behind and threw him to the floor. The origin of the difficulty appears to have been without any good reason. Hennesy says that he was cut in the neck during the melee, but Officer Fahrenbach says he was merely scratched. The trouble may result in a systematic attack on the quarters of the hundreds of fallen angels who, not unawares. infest the eastern part of South Broad street and the vicinity. The inhabitants in their vicinity are getting very weary of their indecent neighbors.

Defying the Officers. DANIELSVILLE, Ga., December 19 .- [Special.] Mrs. Hulda Moore has outwitted the officers at

At last Seprember term of our superior court, judgment was obtained against Mr. John Moore, husband of the famous Mrs. Hulda Moore, for attorney's fee. A motion for a new trial was defeated, but served to postpone new trial was defeated, but served to postpone collection till the January sale. Sheriff Scarborough proceeded to levy, but desisted in the face of Mrs. Moore's fair promises, and on Monday Mrs. Moore came up ostensibly to settle bringing certificates of depositifrom the national band of Athens. She requested Mr. Strickland, plaintiff in the fi. fa. to write a receipt in full, whice he did. She then requested to see both receipt and fi. fa. After scrutenizing them she placed them in her pocket and departed. The sheriff took out a possessory warparted. The sheriff took out a possessory war-ront and followed. Fair promise again pre-vailed. Failing to meet her engagement again the sheriff went to arrest Mrs. Moore, but found her armed and defiant, threatening murder if he attempted to enter the house. The sheriff returned without a prisoner.
On Saturday the sheriff, Deputy Sheriff

Henry McEwen and Messrs. Hugh Hardeman,

On arriving Jim McCurdy went into the kitchen, where Mrs. Moore and her cook were, to see if he could not perform the mission peaceably and without force. The woman rious, and kept the tables between her and McCurdy, levelling her cocked pistol, with finger on the trigger, at him frequently. There was no bluff in Jim, and when he saw there was no other chance but to take ger on the trigger, at him frequently. Here was no other chance but to take her by force, he stepped out and gave the l posse the alarm, whereupon Mrs. Moore jumped out and ran through the orchard. As the men pursued her, she drew two pistols, a British bull-dog, 38-caliber, center-fire, double-acting, and a Marquis of Lorne, 32-caliber, and with one in each hand, leveled them at Scarborough, Brooks and McCurdy. Brooks and McCurdy rushed toward her from different directions and captured her, she firing the bull-dog through Brooks's hand, doing but little damage save burning it. Upon the others rushing up, and in the scufile, she drew the other pistol on Deputy Sheriff Wash White and snapped, but it falled to fire. Thereby he was saved from death. When brought to town she refused to go into any house, or to the fire anywhere, and men crowded about her as she stubbornly stood and walked back and forth bareheaded on the square, with the cold wind whistling about her.

Finally she was seized by two strong men, and carried to the fire in Brook's & Williams' store. While by the fire, she spied a hatchet on the mantel, and waited until Jim McCurdy turned his eyes off, when she sprang for the hatchet. Mr. Ben Russell, who saw her object, snatched the hatchet in time to save McCurdy there death. Here the arrival of Mr.

Savannah, Ga., December 19.—[Special.]—Alderman R. D. Bogart died at his residence on Huntington street at 2 o'clock this morning of malarial fever. Mr. Bogart was in his thirty-seventh year. He was a member of the board of aldermen, and was serving his second term on the board at the time of his death. He was also a member of the cotton exchange, and his death has cast a gloom over that body today. He was married twice, his first wife being a Miss Cornwell, daughter of Mr. George Cornwell. About two years ago he married Mrs. Dossey, of Galveston, Texas, who, with one child survives him. Mr. Bogart was the son of Mrs. W. S. Bogart. For a number of years he was in the cotton business with Mr. W. Hammond, the firm name being Bogart & Hammond. For the past two years, however, he has been in business by himself. The flags on the city exchange, the cotton exchange, the firemens' headquarters and several other buildings throughout the city and on the shipping along the river are at half-mast in respect to his memory. The funeral will take place tomorrow from St. John's church.

MACON'S GREAT AND GROWING NEED

What the Mayor and Counsil are Doing—A Talk with Mayor Price—Woolfolk's Legacy—A Run Off—Other News. Macon, Ga., December 19 .- [Special.] - For years and years the city of Macon has been growing, slowly, but steadily, and the citizens, with but few exceptions, have been so deeply engrossed in their own concerns that the mu-nicipal affairs have been left with the politicians. The present year has worked a wonderous change in these matters. When the present mayor and council were elected, there was considerable stir among the citizens in the way of getting out of the old ruts. Men began to see that the city was falling behind in the steady march of progress and improvement. Public meetings were held, and it was resolved to advertise the advantages of the city.

When the pinch came, they were surprised to see that

MACON LACKED SO MUCH, and straightway the men in power began to cast about for ways and means to better the condition of the city. They saw great barren wastes of street, shadeless and dusty as a desert in summer, unsheltered and muddy as a brick mill in winter. It was found that the city had paid out a great deal of money in redeeming her credit, and that this year she only owed some $450,000, while the assessments showed taxable property of at least $10,000,000. owed some $450,000, while the assessments showed taxable property of at least $10,000,000. The constitutional limit for the issuance of bonds being 7 per cent, this left a margin of from $300,000, to $350,000. Then it was decided to build a markethouse, and $20,000 bonds was issued for that.

The council then began to discuss the condition of the streets and sewers, and after the present plan of issuing $150,000 bonds for sewerage and street improvements was agreed upon. Then the fight was whether the council should be allowed to control the appropriating and disbursement of this fund, or whether a commission should be appointed to take charge of it. This was finally settled by agreeing to leave it with the city council. This seems to suit the citizens very well, though there are still some who object, and on this point the scheme hinges.

At the last meeting of the council it was decided to appropriate $120,000 for a COMPLETE SYSTEM OF SANITARY SEWERACE, and $25,000 for paving, as it was found that some leading citizens, on the principal streets, desired to pave portions of them, they paying one-half and the city the remaining half as a sort of experiment. The streets are so extremely wide that the plan of paving them entirely is totally impracticable. The bonds would all be due and paid up before the business portion of the town could be paved.

The plan of parking obviates much of this difficulty. As Mayor Price remarked today: "What we want first is sewers. A perfect system of sewerage. Let no more of the foul odors and miasmatic effluvia escape from the gaping openings of these big sewers to offend the nostrils and to the nostrils and to

of the inhabitants. Let a competent sanitary engineer lay off the work, and let the plans be so drawn that we will know through the years to come where to put down our sewers.

"After these sewers are built on the modern idea, Macon's naturally perfect drainage will render it free from the evil influences that are now so threatening. These sewers will not break in, crumble and rot away like the present system we have in use, thus saving a great ent system we have in use, thus saving a great deal in the way of repairs and material."

"After your sewers, what next?"
"Well, we can then peak the center of these broad streets, making them pleasant and agree-able at all seasons of the year, and by that our roadways until we can pave them. The city never has been able to appropriate money for these purposes, but now we have the money and should expend it in the most judicious and economical way. After the parks are constructed the city and the citizens can divide half and half the cost of paving, and in a few years the entire business—portion of the city could be paved.

"After these things the dreaded dust problem will be forever settled, and the muddy street crossings flanked by a sea of slush will forever pass away." NARROW DOWN

RICHARDSON'S SPEECH.

Delivered Before the Assembled Drummers Saturday Night. Macon, Ga., December 19.—[Special.]—It was with regret that your correspondent was prevented from giving a more lengthy account of the game supper given by Major J. F. Hanson to post 13 of the Travelers' Protective association, at the Hotel Lanier, Saturday night. Many fine things were said by the tarjous par.

son to post 13 of the Travelers' Protective association, at the Hotel Lanier, Saturday night. Many fine things were said by the various participants, but one of the best little speeches delived was made by Mr. F. H. Richardson, editor of the Telegraph. It was as follows:

What would Georgla be without her drummers' She would be cooped, corrslied and crushed in the mad battle for commercial supremacy. What would Macon be without her drummers' She would stagnate on the hills of her beauty and starve in the valleys of her plenty. The drummers' she would stagnate on the hills of her beauty and starve in the valleys of her plenty. The drummers the courier of progress. The drummer carries the thought and customs of the city into the provinces. He sows the seeds of promise in waste places. He makes dreary hours to blossom with song and jest. He is the swift and shinning shuttle which weaves the woof and warp of our wealth. Wherever the poincer blazes the march of civilization the echo of his ax is the foot fall of the drummer. Wherever men gather thickest in the mart his voice is heard. Wherever a weak and defenceless woman is in distress his big heart and his strong arm are ready to serve her. Wherever a victous tongue asperses the fame of his city, or his state, none quicker than he to resent the insult.

There is in our busy times no more interesting, no more romantic figure. He is destined to hold in literature a place as unique and honorable as he holds in commerce. Gay as the tronbadour, gallant as the laurelled hero of the tourney, loyal to duty, at once shrewd and chivalrous, gentle and brave, undaunted by difficulty, defact of discomfort, I dub him the knight-errant of our civilization."

A BUN OFF.

A Freight Car Tears Up the East Tennessee Track.

Macon, Ga., December 29.—[Special.]—Today at 12:30 the down freight on the East Tennessee pulled out from the depot with a long train of cars. Just as it reached Fifth street a car jumped the track, and for a while the splinters flew from the crossiles. A space of near a hundred feet of track was damaged, and the car, which was empty, pretty badly shaken up. Nobody was injured.

The Courts.

Macon, Ga., December 19.—[Special.]—In recorder's court today, there was one belligerent fined $5, two drunks $2.50 each, and one tramp sent to the city prison. In city court there were three cases. George Caldwell, famous for his connection with the Woolfolk case, was convicted to escaping from the chaingang and sent up for sixty days. John Draper, chicken stealing, four months and Bitt Harris, larceny from the house, six months on the chain gang. Superior court took a recess until December 21, when the Covington and Macon railroad injunction case is set for a hearing.

In the federal court, the big usury case of the New England Mortgage Security company vs. Gay was resumed, and the hearing of evidence continued. It will probably be Wednesday before the evidence is all in, and then some time will be consumed in the final arguments in the case. This case is of vast importance, not from its own intrinsic merits, but because of the great number of cases that hinge upon the decision. Some very eminent lawyers are employed on either side. A Happy Marriage—The Telegraph Occastor's Baby—Other Items.

Macon, Ga., December 19.—[Special.]—Tonight Stenographer A. Emmet Barnes leaves for Haynesville, Houston county, where he will wed at 10 a. m., tomorrow, Miss Roberta Waddell, one of the fairest maids of Housten. The wedding will occur at the residence of the bride's mother. Tomorrow evening the happy couple will be tendered a reception at the home of Mr. Joseph Barnes, father of the groom. All who know Mr. Barnes, will wish him a happy future, and wedded to such a groom, nene can apprehend anything but happiness for the bride.

Yesterday morning Jim McLeod, one of the most faithful and accommodating operators at the Western Union office, received a dispatch from his father-in-law, Mr. Ledsinger, of Columbus, asking how cotton was in Macon, Mr. Ledsinger being a cotton buyer. McLeod wired back "black eyes and hair, like its grandpapa. It is a girl, and a big one, but we haven't weighed it yet. Mama doing well." Mr. Ledsinger's astonishment may be imagined. This item was obtained by tapping the wires.

The drug men were in session today. It appears that one of the fraternity, who entered into the compact to keep only certain hours Sunda, last spring, when the cigar and socia water sensation occurred, got tired of being bound up and decided to keep open all day. After discussing the subject today, Mr. Sol Hoge formally withdrew from the agreement, and gave notice that he would keep open all day. The rest decided to continue the old agreement, only changing the hours in the afternoon from four to eight, instead of from five to seven o'clock.

The Central does not want that air line if it costs anything. Dr. West has seen much trouble with his road to Dublin. He has appointed himself chief engineer. The engineer corps is still indignant with him for not paying them their salaries. They say he has been sent money to pay them with, but refuses to give it up.

WHAT MAJOR BRACHH SAYS.

AUGUSTA, Ga., December 19.—[Special.]— News reached Augusta today from Atlanta, that General Alexander and the Central people had applied for the charter of the Savannah and Fort Valley road, with a capital of one million. This was suppressed to bettle the Sav nah and Fort Valley road, with a capital of one million. This was supposed to bottle the Savannah, Dublin and Western road, and when the Evening News dispatch was shown to Major Branch and Dr. West of the Savannah, Dublin and Western, both of whom reached Augusta today, Major Branch said:

"I'hat's all right. It is fight all the time, but that won't hurt. We are not afraid."

Sold to the Savannah, Florida and Western Railway Company.

ALBANY, Ga., December 19.—[Special.]—

"The Brunswick and Western railroad has been sold to the Savannah, Florida and Western railway," said a gentleman from Ty Ty last night. "A cablegram was received from the German bondholders stating that the sale had been effected to the Plant Investment company, owners of the Savannah, Florida had been effected to the Plant Investment company, owners of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway. Vice President Gaddis, of the Brunswick and Western railroad, who is also the general superintendent, has authenticated the report. The people along the road are very glad of the change," he continued. "This scoop," remarked a bystander, "is for the purpose of heading off the Columbus Southern, which is now commenced, gobbling it up and giving the Savannah, Florida and Western railway a western connection." In this opinion the Ty Ty gentleman coincided.

A TRIUMPH OF SURGERY. Dr. Theodore Lamb, of Augusta, Performs a Great Feat.

a Great Feat.

AUGUSTA, Ga., December 19.—[Special.]—A most important and successful surgical operation was performed today, growing out of an accident. William Brown, who has been engaged as head waiter by the proprietor of the new Arlington hotel, had been out in the country getting holly for Christmas trees. When returning to the city his span of horses became unmanageable. While coming down a hill they ran away, throwing him violently from his seat, and his right knee cap was broken. The surgical operation was successfully performed by Dr. Theodore Lamb, who sewed the bone of the knee cap with wire thread. Efforts are now being made to prevent inflammation. The operation was so admoitly performed that Brown will be carried to the medical college and a lectore will be given the students on the subject.

No More High Rates to be Charged, But Boarding Houses are Being Erected in Addition to a First Class Hotel, So as that Patients Can

Nothing will be more gratifying to the public than to be informed of the fact that the new extension known as the Electric Health Resort, located at Hillman, on the Washington branch of the Georgia railroad. This resort will be opened on the 22d instant. Rates of board at the hotel will be $1.50 per day; at boarding houses $1.80 as the crippled, with limited means, can come to this wonder of the age for treatment and be cured. Rates for setting in per day; at boarding houses it, on a the capture, with limited means, can come to this wender of the age for treatment and be curred. Rates for setting in electric rooms is 31 per day.

The shaft, as it is called by some, consists of an excavation in the ground about eight feet deep, twelve feet wide and fifty feet long besides a large alum rock fifty feet long and fourteen feet perpendicular, with a spring in each room set back in under the rock. This excavation is divided into three rooms with steps leading up into the watting room, which is in connection with the springs, and is fifty feet long and twenty wide stoves in this room so as the patients can come up and warm when they get cool. There are also three large lights over the electric rooms four by eight feet long as so one can sit in these and read nicely, even on a cloudy day. From this rock flows a heavy current of thermal electricity, which is so penetrating to the persons as to soon charge them with electricity, so much so as to produce severe shock, and even for weeks after the patient returns home can this most wonderful power be felt. The gale is so strong from this vast rock (though solid it is) as to blow a slip of paper from it though you may be holding it fully six feet from away. Wonderful cures have been made with parties from California and Wisconsin in the last few days, and there are now being made some grand cures with patients from other portions of the country. For rheumatism, neuralizia, dyspepsia, kidney trouble, nervousness, and as for the ladies with there many troubles we dely the world to show one cure where this mystery of nature will produce ten. There is nothing to strengthnening to the weak and feeble as this greatest of nature's gifts for suffering humanity. It is certainly exciting to see strong men quiver under its mighty touch, for at no time when fileen or twenty are there but that two or three of theat number must leave the rock because of its powerful effect on the patient. The properties in the rock are driven into

I landed at your Electric Shaft the first day of this month, with my wife who, as you well know, could scarcely get about with my assistance. When we left home the night before, I had to carry her to the depot in a buggy, and with great difficulty got her into it, and laid a plank from the buggy to platform of car, and in that way she managed to get into the art.

of car, and in that way she handsed to get a car.

She visited the Shaft every day for thirteen days, while there, and drank bountifully of the water, and when she left there she got on and off the cars without my assistance, and to the astonishment of our friends when we arrived home, she walked from the dejot to my house, which is about two hundred and fifty yards, and I think she is still improving.

My wife sends her best wishes and thanks for kindness to her, and with much success to you and the Electric Shaft, I remain as ever,

JOHN H. McCOY.

I do hereby certify that I have been fully restored of rheumatism in my hand and arm, of two year's standing, by remaining in the Electric Shaft of Mr. A. L. Hillman, near Sharon, only about ten hours in all: and by drinking the water have rebelved other benefit and would recommend all who are afflicted with rheumatism to visit the shart as it beats nauseous drugs. HILIMAN'S ELECTRIC SHAFT.

December 15th, 1886.

This is to certify that on my arrival at the Shaft yesterday, I was very much afflicted with rheumatism, not being able to mise my feet from the ground or get in or out of doors without help. After eighteen hours' treatment in the Shaft, I can now walk with little or no trouble. Very truly.

SANDERSVILLE, Ga., December 18th, 1886.

Rev. A. I., Hillman: I am pleased to inform you that I am greatly benefitted from a visit to your "Electric Shaft," and am confident that with one week's stay there I would be entirely and permanently restored from rheumatism. Before visiting the "pit" I saffered exeruc ating pain most of the time for several months. Since my return home I have felt but little pain, and then only of short duration, after much exposure.

I hepe to be able to make a visit of several days' duration to your wonderful electric resort in a very

I had been a sufferer for twenty-seven years with a pain in the back—spinal irritation—not able, without great effort and pain, to stoop over or down to the floor—and had tried numerous medicines with no effect. I visited the Shaft on the 15th of November and remained a part of two days. I was in the shaft about two hours the first day, and perhaps two hours the second day. I drank the water copiously during my stay. While I hugged the wall closely and sensibly felt at regular intervals a peculiar shivering sensation not utilike the slight discharges which an electrical battery produces on the nervous system. I returned home fluero mites, and on the evening of the 17th I felt as well as the day I was eighteen years old. Since thatdate, I am able to pick up pins on the floor, bend over the fel or able in cutting tut dress. So or any other work which requires stooping, with little or no pain whatever. And now, after a mouth, I think it has "come to stay." Yours very respectfully.

Messrs. A. S. Whelchel, G. W. Burns, Robert Burns, T. J. Connor and W. M. Armstrong invaded the upper part of Lumpkin county on a deer hunt last week. They killed a large buck deer and returned home satisfied, having venison enough to do them all through the Christmas holidays.

Ishmaelite: One day last week we learn there was a fearful explosion of an eight-horse Eclipse boiler in the western part of the county. It seems that the wood used for fuel was not good, and as there was some leakage at the safety valve it was difficult to keep a sufficiency of steam to drive the machinery. To remedy the trouble, we hear, the safety valve was screwed down tightly. With a boiler nearly full of water and steam pressure constantly increasing, while the machinery was at a stand still, there was no alternative but explosion. Noel Davis, a convict, whose sentence had expired, and another negro were fatally injured and have since died. The engine was the property of C. S. Rives.

Last Thursday evening Dr. Tidwell was hastily summoned to the residence of Mr. Joe Smith in Fayette county, Mr. Smith's fourteen year old son, Berry, having had his arm caught in a cotton gin while attempting to remove cotton that was choking the gin, and having it terribly lacerated almost to the shoulder. The doctor at once decided that amputation would be dangerous and therefore proceeded to dreas the terrible wound of the sufferer as best he could under the circumstances. During the night he began to sink and a messenger was dispatched for Drs. Tidwell and Davenport, but before they reached the patient death had relieved him of his sufferings.

No cause is known for this unprovoked brutal murder, only Milner's dying statement given above is known. Askew at once fled and has not been captured. On High License and Restriction. EDITORS CONSTITUTION: High license for the privilege of seiling spirituous liquors, is, in my opinion, a great error, and is wrong and unjust to the public as well as to those who do or do not en-opinion, a great error, and is wrong and unjust to the public as well as to those who do or do not engage in the business.

If it is right to sell liquors, it is wrong to charge the business, say dry goods; and it appears to me to be wrong fo restrict the limits within which it can be conducted; for if it is right in one place, it is right in another—just as well in the outskirts, or in the country as in the heart of the city. It is unjust discrimination to refuse the privilege to a man who lives ordoes business in one part of the country and allow 4t to another because he resides or does business in one small locality, as paying a large sum for the privilege cannot make it right.

If it is a business that is proper to be allowed, it is wrong to give a rich man the privilege because he can pay a large license tax, and refuse it to another because he is not able, though he may be equally deserving and equally as good a citizen.

Will the courts sustain such discriminations, such inequality and injustice in law or its administration?

I believe that all men are entitled to equal privileges and ought to be placed on an equality before the law Let us have equal rights before the law for all, exclusive privileges for none.

And it does seem to me that it is wrong for the law to create a monopoly in anything.

Decisions Rendered December 19, 1887.

Dyar vs. Walton, Whann & Co. Foreclosure of mortgage, from Bartow. Evidence. Contracts. Fraud. Equity. Mistake. Negligence. (Before Judge Fain.)

Bleckley, C. J.—1. Parol evidence (especpecially of the debtor himself) that a settlement closed up by absolute notes and mortgages was, by oral agreement of the parties, to be revised by the debtor, and the notes and mortgages reduced by crediting down all errors, contradicts the writings, and is inadmissable.

2. Making and violating a contemporaneous parol agreement inconsistent with the writings, is not a fraud for which equity will vary or set them aside, no sufficient reason appearing why such agreement was not incorporated in the writings.

3. Gross errors committed in a settlement not intended by the debtor to be final, but nevertheless consummated by executing notes and mortgages for definite amounts, bearing interest from date, with ten per cent. for attorneys' fees, will be attributed by a court of equity, not to mistake, but to gross negligence. Where there is intention to be accurate hereafter but not now, failure in accuracy now is no disappointment of the intention, and therefore no mistake.

Colclough & Co. vs. Mathis, sheriff, et al.

Money rule, from Floyd. Laudlord and Tenant. Liens. Distress Warrant. Demand. Costs. (Before Judge Maddox.)

Blandford, J.—1. The special lien of landlords on the crops made on land rented from them are to be enforced by distress warrants, and not in the manner provided in §1991 of the code for the enforcement of liens on personalty.
And such a distress warrant may be issued by a justice of the peace upon upon the affidavit of the attorney of the landlord. Code, §$2286, 1978, 4082; 57 Ga. 406.
2. In order to enforce the special lien of a landlord, the rent must be due, but a demand for the payment thereof is not required. But in this case, a demand for payment after the rent became due was alleged.
3. The special lien of a landlord is superior to all liens except those for taxes. On a rule to distribute a fund arising from property levied on by a distress warrant issued under the foreclosure of a landlord's special lien, and also levied on under certain common law judgments, the costs of the proceeding to distribute money and the expense of bringing it into court should not be paid out of the fund; but costs due to a plaintiff in a common law judgment should not be paid in preference to the claim of the landlord under his distress warant.

Barrett & Caswell vs. Durham. Claim, from Gordon. Bankruptcy. Homestead. Exemptions. Mortgages. Executions. Liens. Administrators and Executors. Vendor and Purchaser. Notice. (Before Hon. C. D. McCutchen, judge pro hac vice.)

Simmons, J.—1. Where land was set apart to a bankrupt as an exemption by the bankrupt court, this had the same effect in holding off prior liens of creditors, or liens existing at the time of the adjudication, as if the exemption had been regularly set apart by a proceeding in the court of ordinary in the methods prescribed by the laws of this state. Broach vs. Powell, (last term); 74 Ga., 697; 65 Id., 624.

2. Where a homestead has been set apart, either under the constitution of 1868 or that of 1877, it exists as long as the family for whose use it was set apart exist and reside in this state. And where an exemption in bankruptcy was set apart to a debtor who had a wife and minor children, a mortgage fi. fa. previously obtained could not proceed against it so long as the wife lived or the minor children were under age. Nelson vs. Commercial Bank, Hart vs. Evans, and First National Bank of Chattanoga vs. Massengill, (decided at the present term.)

3. The adjudication in bankruptcy did not divest the title of the bankrupt to the property set apart to him as an exemption, and he could not have divested the lien of a mortgage fi. fa. obtained prior to the adjudication in bankruptcy. After his death, his administrator, under a proper order, could have sold the property, and all the debts and liens against the bankrupt, obtained subsequently to his discharge, would be divested from the land and attached to the proceeds of the sale in the hands of the administrator, such debts being represented by the latter; but where a mortgage gay was executed and foreclosed prior to the adjudication in bankruptcy. After his death, his administrator, such debts being represented by the latter; but where a mortgage of the bankrupt operated to d

the sale of the land; nor could he divest such lien by an administrator's sale; but after the tamily of the debtor had ceased to exist, the holders of the mortgage fi. fa. could proceed to levy upon the land and bring it to sale.

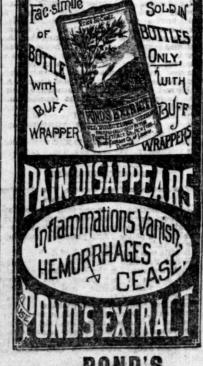

4. The mortgage having been duly recorded, the purchasers at the administrator's sale took with notice that, although the debt against the bankrupt was discharged, the lien on the land remained and would so continue to Femain until the widow of the bankrupt died and the minor children became of age.

5. This decision is not in conflict with that in the case of Newsom, adm'r, vs. Carlton, adm'r, 59 Ga. 516, where no homestead or exemption had been set apart by the ordinary or the bankrupt court.

A Republican Maneuver.

The republicans have begun the campaign of '88 by the organization of a national league, the purpose of which is to organize ablican clubs all over the union, which shall be permanent institutions, having as their object the support of the republican party by complete and practical organiza-

At an alleged national convention just held in New York, the Republican League was established. This convention was com posed ostensibly of republican clubs from all of the states, but an examination into the list of delegates will show that a number of the southern states were not represented at all. As the republicans propose to make their next campaign on the sup pression of the negro vote in the south, is it not a little queer that this assemblage of stalwarts did not have among them a single representative from several of the states which they propose to redeem? In looking over the extensive list of vice presidents and executive committeemen selected, we find that every state in the union was represented except a few of the south, in which the negro vote is very large. Georgia, South Carolina, Florida and other southern states played no part in the proceedings, and it s recorded that one Alabama darky straved in and undertook to represent his state, whereupon he was summarily suppressed.

Now, why this suppression of the negro rote of the south by the great apostles of "a free vote and a fair count?" If, as the republicans claim, the negro vote is so anxlous to assert itself with the republican party, it certainly seems that this vote should have been represented. In either way that the matter is considered, an answer is found to the blatant humbuggery of the republicans about the negro vote. If the bosses who are in charge of this newly constructed machine purposely kept the colored man from taking part in the proceedings, then the hypocrisy of their whole course is apparent. If, as is decidedly more probable, they invited the colored republicans of the south to join them, and found on assembling that the chairs allotted them were unoccupied, then it is clear that the colored vote is tired of the lash of the whip of republican bosses, and will have no more

Out of the large representation of repub licans present, from all parts of the union, but one colored man, Lynch of Mississippi, made himself known in the proceedings of Such an instance of oppression, or suppression, or want of expression, or failure impression, or depression, of the negro vote is not on record.

Let the republican bosses explain them-

The Cotton Movement.

The New York Financial Chronicle, in its weekly review of the cotton movement, says that for the week ending last Friday night, the total receipts have reached 213,902 bales, against 249,019 bales last week, 252. 406 bales the previous week, and 249,388 bales three weeks since, making the total receipts since the 1st of September, 1887. 3,593,867 bales, against 3,236,135 bales for the same period of 1886, showing an in crease since September 1st, 1887, of 357,

The exports for the week reach a total of 165,270 bales, of which 109,657 were to Great Britain, 14,320 to France and 41,284 to the rest of the continent. The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 625 .-100 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 504 bales, including -for export, 504 for consumption-for speculation and-in transit. Of the above

The imports into continental ports this week have been 50,000 bales. There is an increase in cotton in sight of 81,270 bales as compared with the same date of 1886, an increase of 134,258 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1885, and a decrease of 46,554 bales as compared with

The old interior stocks have increased ring the week 30,356 bales, and are 84,-210 bales more than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 5,782 bales more than the sam week last year, and since September 1, the receipts at all the towns are 274,034 bales ore than for the same period in 1886. The total receipts from the plantations since September, 1887, are 4,067,406 bales; in 1886 were 3,599,018 bales; in 1885 were 4,619,913 bales. Although the receipts at the outports the past week were 213,902 bales, the actual movement from the plan-tations was 247,948 bales, the balance going to increase the stocks at the interior towns Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 269,527 bales and for 1885 they were 284,907 bales.

The average weight of the deliveries in Great Britain is 433 pounds per bale this season, against 447 pounds during the same time last season. The continental deliveries average 437 pounds, against 438 pounds last year, and for the whole of Europe the deliveries average 435 pounds per bale, against 443 pounds last season. The Chronicle says that the speculation in cotton for future delivery at New York took a turn toward higher prices at the beginning of the week under review. It was seen that receipts at the ports for the remainder of December are to compare with large figures for the corresponding period of last season: a marked reduction was anticipated, and it was believed that this reduction would revive confidence in short crop estimates and lead to a renewal of speculation for the rise. These expectations were fully realized, except that on Tuesday the advance was checked by sales to realize, although Liverpool and Manchester were better. On Wednesday there was renewed buoyancy, Liverpool having made a further advance and the receipts at the ports being comparatively small; but a full interior movement caused some depression at the Cotton on the spot has remained quiet, but holders were firm and quotations were advanced 1-16c. on Monday. Thursday quotations were revised, low grades were reduced 1-16c. and high grades advanced 1-16 to 1-16tc. Friday the market was 16c dearer, middling uplands closing at 10$c.

The Chronicl's telegraphic advices from the south tonight indicate that the market ing of the crop continues on a fair scale, interrupted to some extent by rainy weather.

THE ordinance introduced by Alderman Dorsey in the council, and passed by that body, making a member of council ineligible for any office in the gift of the council, is of great importance. The theory of the general government, as well as the state government, is that no member of a legislative body should be eligible to an office created by it. Alderman Dorsey is entitled to the credit of having introduced one of the most important measures that has ever been presented to the council. Judge Dorsey has made a most excellent alderman,

The experience of the past in England and in this country shows that cruel and excessive penalties for small offenses have never worked beneficially. They excite a indignant with their courts they cease to respect the law. About a century ago over one hundred offenses in England were punishable with death. It was found that these severe penalties did not repress crime, and juries frequently failed to convict because they were too tender-hearted to visit upon the offender the consequences of his crime. The penal laws were therefore greatly modified, and the tendency of modern legislation is to favor humane methods so far as they are consistent with the interests of

The bench is the very last place for cruelty. The best judges are always merciful within the limits of the law. A judge need not be afraid to let the world know that he has a heart as well as a head.

THERE is but one reasonable and practicable method of reducing the tariff, and that is the repeal of the internal revenue laws. With these laws out of the way, there will be a deficit instead of a surplus in the treasury, and the deficit will have to be made good by a reduction of the customs duties.

Good Advice From Mr. Powderly.

Mr. Powderly has recently been writing ome very sensible letters to the Knights of Labor, and just before his late sickness prepared the best of the number he has yet written. In it he deals with the question of child labor, and urges the working men to put their children to school instead of wearing them out from their infancy in factories and workshops.

"Fill the schoolhouses of today, and the poorhouses of the future will be tenantless," poorhouses of the future will be tenantless," says Mr. Powderly. Continuing, he says:

The loss of the nation in all that makes up the useful citizen, the honest, active legislator and the brilliant statesman through child labor cannot be estimated. Go through the factories of the United States. Once the factories were all in the east; to-day they are everywhere. Examine for yourself, and you will see that child labor has not been abolished, even though the law calls for it. Amid the ned, even though the law calls for it. Amid the dust of the mill, where the human voice cannot be heard above the roar of the machinery, with eyes almost burning in their sockets, you will find hun-dreds, thousands and tens of thousands of little boys

Mr. Powderly is right, and the sooner the people recognize it the quicker will be the progress of the elevation of the masses to a common plane of prosperity. Education will do for them what nothing else will, and its benefits are certain. The drudgery of a factory is not the proper surrounding for childhood, at least not until opportunity has been offered for proper mental training. After that, then the factory, if necessary, but a sound elementary education first.

The new governor is a strong member of the Hamlin on, and the turn of affairs is very annoying to the Blaine wing, who lose their grip on state administration. Governor Marble is said to be a very liberal man, and it is doubtful if he pursues the policy inaugurated by Governor Bodwell, as to the prohibitory question, as he does not believe in the potency of legislation as the basis of public morals.

A Capital Selection of water commissioners is especially felicitous. Mr. Hurt has given the subject of water supply closer and more exhaustive study than perhaps any man in the city. It was he who first called attention to the fact that while Atlanta was pumping $175,000 worth of water into the city, she was only getting $35,000 for it. He suggested meters as a remedy for this, and before the general committee he argued this scheme through. Under meters the pressure at the hydrants has risen from twenty pounds to sixty pounds, the income has increased, and the coal bills have diminished nearly one-half. It is the part of wisdom to bring specialists and experts into the public service, and Mr. Hurt will make a notable commissioner. The board appears to be a strong one, and will doubtless

That they will meet and justify the public expectation in this regard there need be no doubt. The responsibility is upon them as the representatives of their party and of the people, and they certainly have as much interest and concern for proper license, legislation and restriction as any of our people, and we would say wait and judge them by their actions. Why manifest such distrust of their dealing with the subject, and that, too, before they have taken their seats? Does all wisdom abide with the present body? Much assome may regret the fact, we apprehend that the new members entertain and will dere express views on the subject. While not authorized to speak for or represent them, we would venture to suggest that the cardinal points to be kept in view abould be to keep the traffic away from residence communities, churches, schools etc., and in the burlness portions of the city within easy reach of police supervision; to reduce the license somewhat from that fixed by the present ordinance, and make the closing hour carlier, and to provide that pure liquors only shall be sold or kept for sale, and to provide for thorough inspection, analysis, etc. If there be those who prefer the late closing hour and the privilege of vending adulterated liquors to a reduction of the license rate, then we differ from such

FRANCESCA DA RIMINI.

First Performance of the Play by Mr. Bangs and His Company. Atlanta theater-goers enjoyed a genuine first night" last night. The fact that this was to be "first night" last night. The lact that he list performance of "Francesca Da Rimini" by Mr. Bangs and his company had not been extensively advertised, and it is safe to say that only those who knew the facts had any idea that the company was styling its first performance. There was not a jar giving its first performance. There was not a jar not a break to mar the smooth production of one of themost difficult plays ever presented. When all these facts are taken into consideration, last night's per-formance may rightly be termed wonderfully good facts are taken into consideration, last night's performance may lightly be termed wenderfully good PRANCESCA DA RIMINI.

The tragedy of "Trancesca da Rimini," as enacted by Mr. Bangs and his excellent comy any last night, was written by Mr. George H. Boker. The story is an episode of the wars of the Guelphs and the Ghibelines. The period of Francesca is the thirteenth century, and the story, as yon know, was told by Dante. It is the period when the Guelphs are predominant, and the lord of Ravenua deems it prudent to seek a matrimonial alliance with the house of Rimini. The argument of the tragedy centers about the four principal characters, Lanciotto, duke of Rimini, Pholo, his younger brother; Francesca, the beautiful daughter of the house of Ravenna, and Pepe, jester to the court of Rimini. Paola is sent from Rimini to Ravenna as a proxy to secure Francesca as a bride for his brother Lanciotto, the deformed. Paolo, meeting his brother's future wife, becomes infatuated with her beauty, and she in return loves him, she as yet knowing nothing of Lanciotto's deformity. At Rimini she sees Lanciotto, and, despite her repugnance to his repulsive appearence, she decides to abide by the promise made to her father, and marry him. The marriage takes place. In the cathedral, while a stormy scene ensues between husband, wife and Paolo, news comes of a revolt against Rimini, and Lanciotto rushes off to the battle. In his absence, Paolo and Francesca, in their guilty dailiance, are discovered by Pepe the Jester, who watched them from a convenient hidingpiace. Pepe seeks the lu uband in the camp, reveals what he knows and meets his death from his own dagger, which has been wrested from him by Lanciotto, who, hast n'ng tack to Rimini, bursts in upon the guilty lovers, and the endis death to the three. The tragedy was first performed at the Broadway theater in 1855 with Mr. Davenport as Lanciotto, Mr. Charles Fisher as Pepe and Madame Ponesi as Francesca.

Mr. Charles Fisher as Pepe and Madame Ponesi as Francesca.

It was left to Mr. Lawrence Barrett to revive the play, which he did in grand s yle. The result is that "Francesca" is, in the mind of the public, closely allied with Mr. Barrett's name. Upon the occasion of his last visit to Atlanta he was billed to appear in "A Fool's Revenge," but in response to the written request of a large number of theatergoers he changed the programme to "Francesca De Rimini." The play was well received, and Mr. Barrett made a hit in it—just as Mr. Bangs did last night.

A WORD ABOUT THIS COMPANY. Mr. E. G. Stone, manager of this "Francesca Da Rimini" company, is one of the best known theatrical managers in the United States. He was for ome years associated with Mr. Chase in the some years associated with Mr. Chase in the management of M'lle Rhea when she made her first successful tour of the south, and, indeed, of the whole country. After their contract expired with Rhea Mr. Stone had the management of Miss Oleoti's wonderful production of "Theolora." Mr. Stone brought the play from London, and brought to this country all the costumes, properties and other stage material from the Theatre Porte de la St. Martin, Paris. The wolderful success of this production will be remembered by everybody.

Then he made a three years' c next with Mr. Bangs to ster in the leading roles, and having nurchased all the property belonging in the with Mr. Bangs to star in the leading roles, and having purchased all the property belonging to the two plays, he formed his company. The leading people are all well-l Down, and some of them quite prominent actors. That they are actors of ability, last night's performance demonstrated.

LAST NIGHT'S PERFORMANCE.

More about last night's performance. As a whole it was very good indeed. The cast is a strong one, and manager, principals and company are to be congratulated upon the unqualified success attendant upon their first performance. Mr. Frank C. ant upon their first performance. Mr. Frank C. Bangs needs no introduction to the people of At-lanta, or, indeed, of the south. He has many warm friends here, and many more warm admirers. They have seen him in many roles, but none in which he have seen him in many roles, but none in which he has appeared to better acvantage. Coming as he does, after Mr. Berrett, who seemed especially adapted to the part, some of his friends had been a little fearful of the result. But these fears were groundless, for he covered himself with glory. In this short notice it is impossible to go into details of his work, and it must suffice to say that he rose grandly equal to the occasion, and fu'lly sustained the excellent reputation he has made. Of the support. Mr. Sturgeon, Mr. St. Clair and Mr. Gray deserve especial prominence. Mr. Sturgeon's "Paola" was a truely excellent piece of acting. Young and handsome, blessed with a beautiful voice, he looked Paolo, and in every gesture, every action, he was Paolo. He blessed with a beautiful voice, he looked Paolo, and in every gestine, every action, he was Paolo. He was a decided favorite with the audience, and he deserved to be IMr. St. Clair was an excellent Jester. He was especially strong in the fity act, both in the garden scene and in the scene at the camp with Lanciotto. Mr. Gray, as Malatesta, and Mr. Williams, as Guido, were exceedingly good old men. Miss Leigh as Francesca gave a smooth and even performance, but was hardly as strong as was expected. She doubless was affected by the fact that this was

The other members of the company do very nicely, and the performance as a whole is a very pleasing one. The costumes are elegant, the scenery appropriate, and everything moves along smoothly. "Francesca" will be seen again this aftergoon and night.

When the case was called, Mr. Hinton Wright appeared for the defendant, and entered a plea of not guilty. The evidence showed that Beattle had been selling cheap jewelry, and that he had been giving away with each package a transparant card. WOOLFOLK'S HOPES.

Colonel Rutherford Confident He Will Get Another Trial.

HOW THE MURDER ER SPENDS HIS TIME He is Gloomy, But Has Not Lost Hope—As Interesting Talk With His Senior Conn-sel—States His Points about the Trial.

In the dismal solitude of a cell in Fulton county jail Tom Woolfolk quietly passes his time sitting and reading and ruminating. time sitting and reading and ruminating. Shrinking from contact with the malefactors who are his neighbors and partners in woe, he is wrapped up in himself, and his thoughts dwell upon his terrible crime, his cheerles present and his awful future.

Despite heroic efforts to nerve himself and triumph over the fearful ordeal through which he has recently gone, the lineaments a miserable man are traced in his quiv-ering muscles and lustreless, deep-set eyes. Occasionally, however, a beam of pleasure lights up his sombre countenance, and the evanescent flashing of his eyes denote a spark of living hope. But he soon relapses into a sullen state, and his mental anguish is stamped upon every feature.

"Have you lost all hope, Tom?" one of the turnkeys, in a tone of sympathy, asked the prisoner, as he peered through the grating of his cell.
"No; my lawyers tell me not to lose courage, but to hope for the best. This I try so hard to do, but it's not easy." Nothing of importance in connection with Woolfolk has occurred since he was brought to Atlanta. Many persons visit the jail to see him, but very few are admitted into his pres-

COLONEL RUTHERFORD TALKS. Colonel John C. Rutherford, the senior coun sel for Woolfolk, spent several hours in the city yesterday. He was met in the lobby of the Kimball house by a representative of The Con-

"I am really so pressed for time," Colonel Rutherford said, nervously, as the reporter as-sumed an interviewer's attitude, "that I can spare you but a few moments. I am not averse to talking to you for a little while; but, in view of the bungling way in which the newspaper men have reported my conversations, I ought naturally to hesitate about expressing any trial. Is that true, colonel?"

"Unquestionably we shall take that course."
"Do you object to saying upon what grounds you rest your hope of obtaining another trial?"
"No, I do not. Only the grounds are so numerous that it would be hard for me to tell you all of them. That our client did not have a fair trial is easily shown. We can abundant-ly establish the fact that several of the jurors ho, when placed on their voir dire swore at their minds were without bias who, when placed on their voir dire swore that their minds were without bias and that they had neither expressed nor formed an opinin of Woolfolk's guilt or innocence, subsequently confessed that previous to the trial they had openly asserted that Woolfolk ought to be hanged. This admission has been made by some of the inverse since the case was tried.

hanged. This admission has been made some of the jurors since the case was tried. Other jurors have declared that they dared the defendant: that, in their opinnot acquit the defendant; that, in their opinion, it would have been unsafe for them to have voted 'not guilty;' that the chances are they would have been mobbed had they returned a verdict of acquittal. These facts will be established to the satisfaction of the court. Another exceedingly strong ground—in fact, so strong that if we had no other, would ensure us a new trial—is the behavior of the mob in the courthouse. The mob that clamored for the blood of the accused and cried: 'Hang him!' hang him!' This extraordinary demonstration during the trial of the case had an overpowering effect upon the members of the jury, and put the defendant in a state of trepidation. He actually was in constant dread lest the passion of the populace would gain uncontrollable sway be established to the satisfaction of the court any was in constant creat less the passion of the populace would gain uncontrollable sway and wreak itself upon his hapless head. This shows the state of feeling in the courtroom. Moreover, the presiding judge permitted these unseemly outbursts to occur and his rebuke took no stronger form than the mere rapping of the erowd to order. He made no effort to bring the offenders to instice."

"Are there any others to justice."

"Are there any other grounds, colonel?"

"Oh, yes, several others. In spite of the objection of the defendant's counsel, certain evidence was admitted, which we think, should have been ruled out. Was this done in the trial at Macon? Most assuredly not. No lawyer to whom I have talked since I have been in your city has ventured to say that Woolfolk's guilt was proved. No; the state utterly failed to fix the crime upon Woolfolk, and the verdict of condemnation is not inconsistent with his irrecrime upon woolfolk, and the verdict of con-demnation is not inconsistent with his inno-cence, for it was the crystalization of popular prejudice, not the just, unbiased judgment of twelve good and true men."

"Too senseless to merit a moment's notice," was the emphatic reply.

"There is one thing," continued the lawyer, "to which I wish to call your attention and through you bring the newspapers to a sense of their duty. It was an unaccountable omission on the part of the press of Macon and other parts of Georgia to let pass without a stern rebuke the unheard-of demonstration of the crowd in the courtroom. It was an outrageous proceeding on the part of that crowd. The idea of a crowd, in the presence of a court and jury, clamoring for the life of a man on trial for murder! I was astonished at the silence of the editors. Neither the Macon Telegraph nor The Constitution had a word to say editorially about this. Since I reached Atlanta I have been told by an eminent lawyer that he felt sure we could get a new trial even if we had no other ground than this. But this part of my conversation should best be omitted if you publish anything I say."

A porter told Colonel Rutherford that he had no more time to spare, and the eloquent advocate hurried off, leaving the interviewer to jot down his words for the edification of the readers of The Constitution.

WOOLFOLK'S LEGACY.

WOOLFOLK'S LEGACY. He Has the Power to Do With It as He Is Pleased to Do.

Pleased to Do.

Macon, Ga., December 19.—[Special.]—Today some discussion was raised, and the same subject has been a good deal talked of before, as to whether Tom Woolfolk, in the event that he fails to get a new trial, can appeal to the supreme court without paying the usual fees, some $250. Your correspondent consulted an eminent attorney on the question. He said "He has either to pay the fees or swear that he is not able to pay that amount."
"But he is worth that much, according to the assessment of his father's estate, some

"But he is worth that much, according to the assessment of his father's estate, some $9,000, is he not?"

That depends. His attorneys have a previous lein on his prospective share of the estate. Suppose he makes them a deed to the entire property. That makes him insolvent."

"Can he deed away property that has not come into his possession?"

"Most certainly he can deed this property, for the moment the last of the Woolfolk family died, with one exception, he and his sisters became heirs to the estate. It makes no difference if it is a thousand years afterward before the estate is wound up and the division occurs, Tom Woolfolk or his heirs or assigns fall heirs to this property."

"What is the exception you mention?"
"It is simply this: Whether the farther or any of the children died last, it does not affect Tom's title. But if Mrs. Woolfolk died last, then it reverts to her heirs. The question of who died last will be a hard one to prove satisfactorily."
"Is there not a presumption that the weekers

"Is there not a presumption that the weakest die first—the children and next to them the women in such a case?"

"There is such a presumption in cases of ship wreck, where the matter of survival would reasonably be in favor of the strongest in a simple struggle for life against the elements. In this case common sense would teach us that the strongest were first killed to prevent then assisting the weaker ones, who could be slain more leisurely and with less danger of a successful combat with the assailant or assailants."

"Another question, he has a living wife; would she not come in as an heir ahead of an assignee or legatee outside of other natural heirs?"

"She would not. He can give it away."

heirs?"
"She would not. He can give it away during life, to whom he pleases."
"Had she instituted some proceedings to secure her share prior to the signing away the legacy, could she not then have come in?"
"No, for if she had instituted proceedings for divorce she could only have applied for alimony. After his death she could secure no divorce. So you see she has no chance to recover the property." cover the property."
"In case he had not given away the property, what then?"

"She could then have come in as an heir and claimed her share, which would have been the lion's share of his part of the estate."

"The possibilities of Atlanta are limitless," Colonel Thomas P. Stovall, of Loudon, said to a party of northern gentlemen in the Kimball house. The climate is unsurpassed, and the city possesses greater advantages than any other southern city I know of. I am told that some important industrial enterprises are on foot, and the impression is that the coming year will be one of great prosperity.

THE CAR WORKS.

THE CAR WORKS.

What the Committee Having the Matter in Charge Has Done.

The committee to raise subscriptions for the Atlanta Car company reported progress yesterday. Two thousand dollars were subscribed, and several thousand more were promised after deliberation and consultation. Every one thinks favorably of the enterprise. The committee has an option on the most favorable location in the county. Of course the stockholders will locate the works of their or-ranization as a company; but the present site able location in the county. Of course the stockholders will locate the works of their organization as a company; but the present sito is so eligible that the option has been taken, and will be held till the company organizes. It is considered the best place in the county.

A little liberality on the part of Atlanta's citizens will secure the car works. Nobody is asked for a donation, but merely an investment that will pay as well as anything ever offered to the city.

Work has already been tendered the company. Every day's delay is a loss of revenue. In fact, the city itself loses every day over a hundred dollars net profit by not having the works already at work. Wichita, Kansas, a young town of thirty-five thousand inhabitants, has just made a donation of two hundred thousand dollars to the Brush Car company, to secure the location of its car works. Kansas city offered them one hundred thousand dollars, but their young neighbor was more enterprising.

sand dollars, but their young neighbor was more enterprising. I other parties are becoming interested since the car works question has been agitated, and Atlanta bids fair to become a factory for the car building of the south. If two or three such factoris can be located here they will bring car wheel works, nut and bolt works; and probably a large malleable fron furnace. These facts ought to encourage every lover of Atlanta to subscribe to a fine investment, especially when other cities are offering to make large donations for the same thing. It is to be hoped that these car works will not go elsewhere.

What the Police Force Found to Do Festerday and How They Did It.
Captain Manley, with two or three special officers, made a descent upon a room in the Kimball yesterday afternoon, where a small game of poker was said to be in progress. An arrest or two was made.

Chief of Police Connolly yesterday received as a gift from the Richmond and Danville railroad, a car load of crossties, which he will divide between the Woman's Christian home and the St. Joseph's Infirmary for fuel.

Joe Backus was on Peters street yesterday, too drunk to walk to police headquarters, Black Maria was sent out, but Backus kicked against the ride. At the city prison he was booked for drunk, disorderly conduct, using profane language and resisting an officer.

Nearly a dozen tramps were given sleeping room at police headquarters last night. Gus Ball, Mark Giles and Mary Barnes, three suspects, were given cells in the city prison yesterday.

Chief of Police Connolly has returned from Jacksonville, Fla., where he went to attend the trial of M. J. de Medicis and F. S. Perkins, the two young man who were arrested a few weeks ago with a large number of railroad tickets in their p ssession.

Burglars entered Mr. Jones's residence, 265 Frazier street, Sunday night, and stole two trunks.

"I introduce that ordinance," said Mr. Dorsey, "because I think it eminently appropriate, I have voted for gentlemen, members of this body for other positions, but I think it an unwise policy. No other legislative body permits its members to fill offices at its own hands. I think the policy pursued heretofore an unwise one, and introduce this ordinance." "I think the ordinance a good one," said Mr. Angier, "but it is a little too radical and I desire to amend by adding and which said office may have been created during his of their official term or terms." I think that will make it better."

"I insist upon the ordinance as I introduced it," said Mr. Dorsey. "I want to take the temptation to vote for a fellow member of council entirely out of the way."

"I agree with Judge Dorsey in this entirely," said Mr. Rice. "There are two members of this body, Mr. Greene and Dr. Roy, who are candidates for the board of water commission; I think they are both eminently competent and I guess I'll vote for both unless Judge Dorsey's ordinance is adopted, and I think the ordinance a good one."

"I voted against my friend Hemphill, here, and Mr. Mecaslin, "for member of the board of education, because I believed the custof wrong, and I am glad to see that I was right as Judge Dorsey's ordinance indicates."

HOW THE WHOLESALE TRADE IS TO BE

The New Water Board-Other Matters Transacted.

The whisky traffic, bucket shops and the election of a new board of water commissioners were the leading features in the session of the general council yesterday afternoon.

The session was a quiet and long one.

Mayor Cooper was not present when the city clock struck half-past two, the hour of the meeting, and Mayor Pro Tem Collier called the body to order. A bare quorum answered to the roll call, but before the session closed every member came in except Mr. Nelson, the junfor representative of the fourth ward, who is in Macon attending court. Immediately after the clerk had concluded the roll call Mr. Bell

"I have a resolution here which I desire to

The paper was passed to Clerk Goldsn It was a resolution inviting the members-elect of the council of 1888 to "seats on the floor." As the resolution was read the members began scanning the faces of the audience for memseaning the lates of the address of the berselect, but only one was found in the crowd. That one was Mr. Woodward, of the third ward, and as Messenger Jake Morris was escorting him to a chair beside the city attorney's desk, the universal thought was:

"Jakie is trying to secure another vote for July next a year."

July next a year."
The balance sheet indicated $125,069.25 as the amount of the annual apportionments un-expended.

expended.

Messrs. W. A. Hemphill, W. R. Hammond and W. M. Bray, who were elected members of the board of education at the last regular meeting of the board were called before the mayor and in the presence of the general coun-Cil sworn in.

A few minutes later Mr. W. S. Thomson, the other member of the board of education elected at the same time entered the chamber mittee, introduced an ordinance prohibiting the transportation through the city of dead horses, mules, etc., when death was caused by contagious diseases. The ordinance was adopt-

The clerk, Mr. Goldsmith, presented the returns of the election managers of the recent municipal election. The returns showed the actual number of votes each candidate had received. After the paper had been read Mr. Gramling introduced a resolution declaring Messrs. Howell, Haas, Stephens, Moran, Woodwards, Morris, Thompson and Amarans elected to the general council of 1888, they having received the majority of the votes cast.

Mr. Beutell, chairman of the special committee on city warehouse location, submitted a report favoring the purchase of the Blount building, on Bartow street, at a cost of $5,000. In presenting the report, Mr. Beutell said:
"We have examined several localities, and this is the best we can find, and the cheapest. The committee all signed the report except Mr. Mitchell."

Mr. Mitchell."
"I should like to say why I did not sign that report," said Mr. Mitchell. "I do not think it prudent for the city to invest $7,000 in a warehouse; it will take $2,000 to put it in condition. I believe the interest on $7,000 will pay the rent on a building suitable for a warehouse, and I should like to have the ayes and nays on theledention of that resolution."

Mr. Mahoney, commissioner of public works

mr. Manoney, commissioner of public works, was in favor of a warehouse, and asserted that the city needed one very much.

"Why, the city pays," said Mr. Bentell, "a harness repair bill of forty to fifty dollars per month, and if we make the keeper of the building do that work we can save money."

The area were Messrs, Tanner, Boynton The ayes were Messrs. Tanner, Boynton, Angier, Allen, Greene, Beutell, Beil and Roy-8.

The naves were Messrs. Kinyon, Mitchell and Rice. 5.

Just at this point Mr. Dorsey, of the alder-it," said Mr. Dorsey. "I want to take the temptation to vote for a fellow member of council entirely out of the way."

"I agree with Judge Dorsey in this entirely," said Mr. Rice. "There are two members of this body, Mr. Greene and Dr. Roy, who are candidates for the board of water commission. I think they are both eminently competent, and I guess I'll vote for both unless Judge Dorsey's ordinance is adopted, and I think the ordinance a good one."

"I voted against my friend Hemphill, here," said Mr. Mecaslin, "for member of the board of education, because I believed the custom wrong, and I am glad to see that I was right, as Judge Dorsey's ordinance indicates."

"I desire to say," said Mr. Roy, "that my name has been used as a candidate for water commissioner from the sixth ward by my friends. At first I declined to enter the race, but finally gave way to my firiends, who seemed anxious for me to take it. Of coutrse, this ordinance, if adopted, estops my candidacy, and before it is put to a vote I want to say that I agree with Judge Dorsey and sliall vote for the adoption of the ordinance, and while I am upon the floor I want to withdraw my name has been mentioned, too," said Mr. Greene, "as a candidate from the fourth for water commissioner, and I desire to withdraw it."

The ordinance was adopted.

The ordinance was adopted.

Mr. Beutell threw another bomb into the body by introducing the following ordinance, touching bucket shops:

tuck between the two candidates. When Mr. Body by introducing the following ordinance, touching bucket shops:

An ordinance to amend an ordinance adopted the 20th day of June, 187, to suppress what is commonly called "bucket shops."

The mayor and general council ordained the following shall be a proviso to said ordinance:

Provided, That nothing in said ordinance contained shall be so construed as to prohibit the execution through any firm in the eity of Atlanta of an order to buy or sell upon the open board of the New York or Chlego exchanges, any article for future delivery, when the same is evidenced by the regular form of contract there in force and governed by the studes of said exchange, as chartered by the said exchange and the said exchange as the said exchange as prices." In the meanwhile to protect himself against possible loss, he telegraphs hil brokers to sell for his account 100 bales for future delivery. To sell for "future delivery" gives a profit on any decline in the market. The Madison merchant does not do this for speculation, but to protect him self against loss on the original purchase. The Madison merchant certainly has a right to hold his cotton here for better prices, but if the Atlanta broker is prohibited from buying or selling for "future delivery" in New York, the Madison merchant will certainly prefer to send his cotton to some other market where he could be protected. This may account to some extent for the decrease in Atlanta's receipts up to the present time this year. The same rule applies to the merchandise broker. The ordinance as it reads at present, is calculated to bring at any moment before the recorder some of the best citizens of our city; men who in the business world enjoy the unlimited confidence of all. In view of these facts, I therefore move the adoption of the amendment."

Mr. Tanner favored the adoption of the amendment.

Mr. Tanner favored the adoption of the Mr. Mecaslin wanted most paper was referred.

Mr. Dorsey, chairman of the committee on salaries, submitted a report touching salaries for the coming year. The report read:

Your committees on salaries beg leave to make Water commissioners $100 each member per

Chairman police commissioners, $200 per annum

Respectfully submitted.

"Here is a batch of petitions for liquor license," said the clerk, holding up a bundle of Papers.

"Read them," said Mayor Pro Tem Collier.
The petitions were:
P. R. Johnson, 76 South Broad street.
J. T. Connally, 16 Marietta street.
P. J. Wallace, 52 Peachtree.
C. J. Weinmeister, 10 and 12 North Forsyth.
J. R. Parker, 148 Marietta street.
S. T. Grady, 63 East Alabama street.
L. Steinan, 4 East Wall street.
Carl Hentschell, 56 Decatur street.
A. Daus, 7 East Alabama street.
Peter Lynch, 95 Whitehall street.
C. J. Vaughn, 10 South Broad street.
P. Breitenbucher, 32 Marietta street,
Aug. Flesh, 5 Decatur street.
Beermann & Co., Kimball house.
James Thompson, Jr., for wholesale license at 21 and 23 Decatur street.
The papers were referred to the police committee. Mr. Mecaslin, chairman, and Mr. Tanner and Mr. Kinyon composing the committee, at once went into session, and in a short while reported. Mr. Mecaslin, the chairman, submitted the report, saying:

"We have not gone to the places, but upon such as we make reports we are thoroughly conversant. We report favorably up on the petitions of:
J. T. Connolly, 16 Marietta street.
C. J. Weinmeister, 10 and 12 North Forsyth.
S. T. Grady, 63 East Alabama.
J. Steinau, 5 Wall.
Peter Lynch, 95 Whitehall.
C. J. Vaughn, 10 South Br. ad.
P. Breitenbucher, 32 Marietta.
A. Flesh, 5 Decatur.
Beermann & Co., Kimball house.
We report favorably also upon the petition of Joseph Thompson, Jr., for a wholesale license at 21 "Read them," said Mayor Pro Tem Collier.

Reemann & Co., Kimball house.
We report favorably also upon the petition of Joseph Thompson, Jr., for a wholesale license at 21 and 23 Decatur street, provided he makes the oath as prescribed in the ordinance to be introduced governing the wholsale liquor trade and conforms with the other r suirements of it. On the petition of J. R. Parker, at 48 Marietta street, we report adverse, because it is out of the limits. These are all the licenses the committee will recommend just now.

The report was adopted.
"Is the special committee on the wholesale ordinance ready to report?" asked Mayor Pro Tem Collier.

Mr. Angier, chairman of the committee,

Tem Collier.

Mr. Angier, chairman of the committee, arose. In one hand he held the ordinance introduced by Mr. Rice at the last meeting and in the other another paper.

"Your special committee, consisting of your-"Your special committee, consisting of your-self, Mr. Bell, Mr. Dorsey and myself, has given the Rice ordinance a careful study and submit as a substitute this ordinance." The ordinance was read. It was:

Roy—8.

The nayes were Messrs. Kinyon, Mitchell and Rice; 3.

Just at this point Mr. Dorsey, of the aldermanic board, created a sensation.

"I have here," said he, "an ordinance I desire to read."

The ordinance was like every other paper Mr. Dorsey produces, it was short and to the point. It read:

No member of the general council shall be eligible to any office within the eift of said body during the official term of any member thereof.

"I introduce that ordinance," said Mr. Dorsey, "because I think it eminently appropriate, I have voted for gentlemen, members of this body for other positions, but I think it an unwise policy. No other legislative body permits its members to fill offices at its own hands. Our association in this body makes us warm friends, and in some instances, induces us to vote for members for an office who are not thoroughly acceptable to whe people at large. I think the ordinance a good one," said Mr. Angier, "but it is a little too radical and I desire to amend by adding 'and which said office may have been created during his or their official term or terms.' I think that will make it better."

"I insist upon the ordinance as I introduced it," said Mr. Dorsey. "I want to take the tempatation to vote for a fellow member of council entirely out of the way."

"I insist upon the ordinance as I introduced it," said Mr. Dorsey. "I want to take the same or any part of thereof to be drank on the premises, shall, on conviction shall work an immediate revocation of his license.

The ordinance was read. It was and ordinance, and and liquors atwholesale in the city of Atlanta, shatall pervons, firms, corporations and companies desiring to engine and wholesale in said city of Atlanta, the all pervons, irms, corporations and companies desiring to engine and council of the city of Atlanta, that all pervons, irms, corporations and companies desiring to engine and council of the city of Atlanta, that all pervons, irms, corporations and companies desiring to engine and council of the city of Atlanta, tha mediate revocation of his license.

Section 4. Any person, firm, corporation or company who shall sell or offer for sale at wholesale any sifetious or mail liquors without having first compiled with all the provisions at this ordinance, shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days, or both in the discretion of the court.

Section 5. All license under this ordinance shall ceeding thirty days, or both in the discretion of the court.

Section 5. All license under this ordinance shall issue for one year, but may be revoked by the mayor and general council at any time upon refunding to the applicant the pro rata amount for the unused time. No license is transferable except by consent of mayor and general council. Such license shall protect but one place, and that the place specified in the license.

Section 6. All ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

The clerk read the legislative act, changing the water commissioners. It gave the first and second ward members a term of one year, the third and fourth, a term of two years, and the fifth and sixth a term of two years, and the fifth and sixth a term of three years.

Mr. Rice moved that the members be elected by wards and the motion prevailed.

"Then we will elect first ward member first," said Mayor Pro Tem Collier.

"And I nominate Colonel G. W. Adair," said Mr. Tanner.

"And I nominate Mr. William Middlebrooks," said Mr. Gramling.

The clerk called the roll. It was nip and tuck between the two candidates. When Mr. Rice, the last voter was called, each candidate had seven votes. Mr. Rice voted for Mr. Middlebrooks and secured his election.

Mr. C. C. Hammock was the only nomination in the second ward, and received fifteen votes, every member present voting for him. When the third ward was reached Mr. Angier arose, saying:

"I desire to present the name of a gentleman thoroughly qualified. He has not given his consent to make the race, but will accept if elected. I refer to Mr. Geo. B. Forbes."

"I nominate Mr. Z. A. Smith," said Mr. Bell.

The vote stood: Smith 11, Forbes 4.

In the fourth ward Mr. Hemphill presented M. A. Ozburn and Mr. Angier presented H. C. Irwin. The vote stood: Irwin 9, Ozburn 6.

Mr. M. L. Collier was the sole candidate in the fifth ward. He was presented by Mr. Bell and received fifteen votes.

Three candidates were presented in the sixth. They were Mr. Joel Hurt, Mr. Don Bain and Mr. E. Van Wi

WHO IS THE BETTER MAN?

A Question Which is Agitating the Sporting World.

World.

It has not been definitely determined when the great championship wrestling match will occur, but it is probable that it will take place on the 26th of this month. An extraordinary degree of interest is shown in the contest, and degree of interest is shown in the contest, and already several wagers have been made on the result. Muhler is now in training and expects to be in superb condition for the match. "Greek George" is also practicing assiduously and he expects to be in the best possible trim. Both men will certainly be at their best and they may be expected to do the finest work of their lives.

They who saw Muhler's prowess and strength, displayed in Concordia hall when he vanquished the powerful stone-cutter and the still more powerful o'Leary, cannot be easily persuaded that any man in the world can surpass him as a wrestler. Every man who attended that arkibition is willing to back Muhler against "Greek George" or anybody else.

Muhler against "Greek George" or anybody else.

On the other hand, everybody who has seen "Greek George's" performances is convinced that he is the greatest of all wrestlers. The famous Greek is now giving exhibitions in Jacksonville, Florida, and is meeting with unbounded success. No man has thus far been able to make a stand against him. He has defeated, one after another, many amateur and professional athletes. The Jacksonville newspaper devotes a great deal of space to the reports of Greek George's exhibitions. A few nights ago the Greek encountered a famous professional wrestler named Mitchell. The Times-Union thus describes the contest: cribes the contest:
Time was called, the first bont being catch-as-catch-can.

The men soon went down to ground work, and Mitchell did well. The Greek's s rength, however, soon began to tell, and finally he got Mitchell's right arm in chancery, and as the latter did not know how to get out of the difficulty, he began to shout for the Greek to stop. George saw his way clear for a fall and would not let go and Mitchell, to save his arm, was forced to roll over on his back. Time seven minutes.

Mitchell then announced that he could not go on with the match and the stakes of $200 were awarded the Greek.

A suitable place for the match between the two Greeks has not yet been procured, but the agent is now negotiating for a hall.

The tone of trading was barely steady during the forenon, and an attack by the bearish room traders upon the few leading stocks broke their prices and the general market sympathized to a limited extent. There were very few orders on either side, the trading being confined more completely to prefessionals and traders then at any previous time stranglest supermer, the London and commission since last summer, the London and commission people doing literally nothing. The market was entirely devoid of feature until the afternoon, when a story was staried that the Reading miners would strike and an attack was made upon that stock, which quickly broke one per cent. The later attention of the bears was turned to Elchmond and West Point, which yielded a like amount and Manhattan broke two per cent. New England was Manhattan broke two per cent. New England was heavy to weak all dayand showed material decline at the end of the day. The North Pacific preferred was also notably weak later in the day, but the re mainder were without feature, except Oregon and Transcontinental, which was quite firm in the early trading, on a rumor that the Oregon lease had been signed, but most of its gain was afterward lost The market rallied toward the close, but again sagged off, and at the close was barely steady at but insignificant fractions better than the lowes prices reached, Richmond terminal preferred lost 19% comman 1%, New England 1%, Reading 1 per cent and the rest smaller amounts, though consoli-195, common 195, New Against 195, Academy 1 per cent and the rest smaller amounts, though consoli-dated gas rose 1 per cent. NEW YORK, December 19—C. L. Green & Co., in their report on cotton titures today, say: It has been only a moderately active day, with the general results to be found in an easy market. The start was elight inclined in favor of the bulls and a few points were gained, but buying orders proved very scarce, and a desire to realize gradually developed, under which there was quite a stheck resulting in a shed and a desire to realize gradually developed, under which there was quite a stheck, resulting in a shading of $2.10 points from the highest and six points under Saturday evening with tone slow. There was an absence of news from any quarter calculated to carry much influence, and it looked as though the longs were endeavoring to work off some of the surplus and close up before the end of the yearlongs were endeavoring to work off some of the surplus and close up before the end of the year.

NEW YORK, December 19—[Special]—From Hubband, Price & Co., through John's. Ernest: Receipts today were Leavier than the market was prepared for, and the best prices were paid at the opening—three points above Satunday. After the first call the market looked heavy, and, support being withheld, a decline set in which carried prices downward with no reaction. Liverpool showed a better feeling, the hulls were striving to advance that market on our steadiness of Saturday, but here liquidation proceeded, and the room traders having sold such long cottom as they had now tak in a bearish strain, thinking the advance checked and the tendency downward. In a great measure the decline may be stributed to the very large quantity of spot cottom pointing this way for contract delivery, which must make itself feit when tendered, and which as sales are making constantly, tends to supply such few buyers as appear. This, with the proceedings of inquidation, has created a supply of contracts which the market was manke to absorb without depression in consequence of the lack of support it has hitherto had. It is said that the heavy receipts may be due to the approach of the Christmas holidays, which hurry cotton to market. Operators are uncertain in their views, believing in a lower market. The long interest has parily covered, but enough remains to be a factor in the course of prices. Believers in a interest has partly covered, but enough remains to be a factor in the course of prices. Relievers in a short crop say that '10½c is cheap, but the bears thinks there are too many of that opinion. Europe has little faith in our high quotations.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Produce. Grain and Produce.

Special to The Constitution.

CHICAGO. December 19—May pork opened this morning at $15.90 on tightrecapts of hogs, but there were so many sellers that the price broke to $15.70 immediately. Saturday's close was at $15.82\%, and when sellers disposed of their load the price bounded back to $15.85. There was more inherent strength in provisions than any of the other markets, and during the morning pork swung between $15.75 and $15.85, touching those figures several times. At one o'clock it was $15.89. May lard opened at $.25, sold up to $.32\%, back to $.25@8.27\%. Its main rallying point was $2.71\%.

May corn opened at 541/4c, but at once sold down May corn opeued at 54%c, but at once sold flown to 54e in sympathy with pork. During the early morning the option was quoted as low as 53%c.

May wheat opened at 83%c. In the early hours it broke to 82% 682%c, but later reacted to 83c. Heavy selling by a prominent operator took it down again to 82%c, but when the visible supply statement was published it had given the market a bullish tendency, and the pric2 went up to 83%c.

The board of trade decided today to adjourn from Friday afternoon, December 23, to Tuesday morning, December 27.

people here don't believe he made half the cotton reported.

This letter was backed up by statements from such men as F. M. Winn, E. W. Maxwell, J. M. Hatchit, S. N. Dorsett, T. R. Whitten, G. W. Griffith, W. T. Poole, W. J. Abercrombie and J. H. Alexander, the porport of which were that they did not believe Mr. Ray's statements and did believe that the matter needed investigation.

Armed with these papers a reporter of The Constitution called on Colonel George W. Boott, head of the firm referred to. Colonel Scott, in reply to a question asking him if he had heard of these doubts, said: "Yes, our agent at Douglasville Captain C. P. Bowen, has written us this morning that such doubts exist and requests an investigation. We have already employed council to visit the neighborhood and investigate the matter thoroughly. If there is any reasonable ground to suspect fraud our attorney is instructed to at once commence prosecution." "We do this" Colonel Scott said, in justice

In previous years, several Douglas county farmers have competed for our premiums, and reported in the usual way large yields. Mr. F. M. Winn, in 1881, as certified to by his neighbors and county officials, made the large scrop reported, to-wit: 6,580 pounds of seed cotton, or 2,196 pounds of clean int, on one acre. In 1884, Mr. David Smith, of Douglas, made 1,089 pounds of lint cotton on one acre, and in the same year, and also on one acre, Mr. J. V. Edge, of Douglas, made 988 pounds. The action of Scott & Co., in instituting a prompt examination, is in strict keeping with the reputation for fairness which has always characterized that firm's dealings. The report of the attorney sent to the scene will be awaited with interest.

WHICH HE WON A PRIZE

Atlanta and Alabama (Selma) Railway Company—Subscription List.

At the termini of this proposed railroad are two of the most intelligent, enterprising and substantial cities in this our southern country. Each is deeply interested in this enterprise, and neither can longer afford to have no voice or vote in the management and control of any of the railroads which move the vast commodities from which each and all its citizens derive their livelihood and wealth.

The enterprise itself is promising in rich rewards to the builders, as much so as any work of the kind in our country for the past fifty years. Only a few weeks ago the first meeting was held in Selma to awaken it from its sleep. Since that time the entire newspaper press in Selma, Atlanta, along its line and to some extent beyond has come forward as its advocates, exponents and supporters, and almost every interested person acknowledges its merits and urgent claims for aid in its construction. Indeed it may be said that no project of the kind has ever enlisted more enthusnasm or astronger desire for its accomplishment in so short a time of discussion. And why should it not be so?

It is to form a wanting link in the most direct trunk line between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington on the one hand, and New Orleans, Taxas and the Pacific coast on the other hand. It penetrates a most inviting section of country, seventy or eighty miles wide, and accommedates three or four hundred thousand people a on; and near the line, and at its terminus, and cannot fair, when completed, to add at least $20,000,000 in value to the property, real and personal, within a few miles of its location. Nor can the road itself, when completed, fail to have a value of less than $7,000,000.

In the second place, if honestly and economically constructed, it will not cost over $2,000,000 including profits; of construction and bonded debt. To put this enterprise fairly upon its feet, and in a position to insure its speedy completion will not require more than one per cent in which it was stated under date of December 17th that:

Some of the citizens of this county were very much surprised to see in vesterday's CONSTITUTION in the distribution of the prizes by G. W. Scott & Co. for the best yield of cotton on five acres the name of Mr. Robert G. Ray, of this county. Et e.y one here is inclined to disbelieve that Mr. Ray made the enormous yield as reported by The C. N. STITUTION, He is no known in this county as a scientific or prominent farmer. The first time the writer ever saw or heard of him was last week when the grand jury of the county indicted him for a violation of the prohibition law. Before the prize is paid it would be well for G. W. Scott & Co. to investigate just a little. He is only a renter and the people here don't believe he made half the cotton reported.

to the road, and the stock subscribed to the construction company, can hardly fail to find a return of one hundred per cent profit in three years from the commencement of the work. And to this we may add that the land givers will doubtless obtain a return of 100 to 1000 per cent in the increased value of the lands they retain.

And herethe question arises. Shall and will the people of Fulton county, Ga., the people of Dallas county, Ala., and the people along its line come forward, build, own, and control this road and thus own their present possessions with their increased value, or will they sapinely let the present povement fail, and the en-

Mr. Ray's statements and did feelieve that the matter needed investigation.

Armed with these papers a reporter of The Constitution called on Colonel George W. Scott, head of the firm referred to.

Colonel Scott, in reply to a question asking him if he had heard of these doubts, said: "Yes, our agent at Douglasville. Captain C. P. Bowen, has written us this morning that such doubts exist and requests an investigation. We have already employed council to visit the neighborhood and investigate the matter thoroughly. If there is any reasonable ground to suspect fraud our attorney is instructed to at once commence prosecution."

"We do this" Colonel Scott said, in justice not only to ourselves, but to the numerous other contestants for these premiums. This award was made by a committee selected by the contestants. road and thus own their present possessions with their increased value, or will they sapinely let the present movement fail, and the enterprise remain dead until some northern or European capitalists come along, take up, and build the road, and reap as they have done, with other lines, millions of dollars in gains, both on the road, and on the property they otherwise obtain? I trust that the energy and enterprise of our people will not suffer this road to thus pass out of their hands into the hands of those who have no other interest than to grind out of our people the last dollar within reach, by extortionate rates of freight.

To afford our people an opportunity to embark in this great enterprise, I have formulated subscription lists, with such conditions as will give the greatest possible amount of safety to all subscribers. Stock subscribed in Atlanta and vicinity will be paid for work on this end of the line, Stock subscribed in Selma and vicinity will be paid for work on that end of the line, and not over ten per cent to cover survey, location, etc., will be required until contracts are let out, and then not over ten per cent a month will be câlled for. Very respectfully, from the collection of taxes, $21,006.32, of which amount Fulton county sent in $7,494.96.

The executive department yesterday issued a commission to T. A. Oakly, elected sheriff of White county to succeed E. M. Castleberry resigned.

An Application for a railroad charter was filed in the office of secretary of the state yesterday morning. The name of the road is given as that of the Savannah and Fort Valley railroad, to run from Fort Valley via Perry to Savannah, or to Eden station on the Central railcad. The line proposed runs through the counties of Houston, Palaski, Dodge, Laurens, Montgomery, Emanuel, Latnall, Bullock, Bryan and Effingham. The capital stock is placed at $1,000,000, of which the corporators take the number of shares, after their names, viz. General E. P. Alexander, fifty shares; T. M. Cunningham, fifty shares; E. M. Green, fifty shares; H. B. Hollins, New York, twenty shares; Angust Belmont, Jr., New York, twenty shares.

Ira D. McCollum, of Franklin, was charged with illicit distilling, removing and concealing, but the jury thought him only guity of working. He was sentenced to one months' imprisonment, to date from December 10.

W. E. Wright, of Cherokee, was charged with removing whisky from McAfee's registered distillery. A shortage was discovered of ninety-nine gallons, and a hole in the pipe was said to have been the place where the leakage occurred. The jury was out about five minutes, and brought in a verdict of not guilty. It is said that Wright [will be arrested on an indictment from Cherokee superior court, charging him with stealing whisky from McAfee's distillery.

YESTERDAY UNITED STATES Commissioner Will Haight discharged James Wiley, a codefendant with James McCoy, charged with the murder of Deputy Marshal Kellett, as the principal McCoy had been acquitted by a jury in Walker county.

G. W. Maddox, of Cherokee county, pleaded guilty to retailing without license under the following circumstances: He bought a barroom from a Mr. Crenshaw on October 1st, and paid him $65 for the license, he, Crenshaw, stating that it was not necessary to get out a new license. As Crenshaw was a gauger in the revenue service, Maddox acted on his opinion. Maddox having the mumps, sentence was suspended.

Joseph E. Brown, of Elbert county, entered a plea of guilty of retailing without license. He stated that it was simply a transaction between a party of friends, but he was willing to pay the tax and penalty to the revenue department. Sentence suspended.

Deputy Marshal W. J. Abercrombie arrested Hillard Graham, colored, in Paulding county, on the charge of violation of the revenue law. Graham was carried before United States Commissioner Will Haight yesterday, and gave bond.

The County Courthouse.

Judge Howard Van Epps called the city court to order at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The sitting of the court was, however, a very brief one. The case assigned for trial fell through, and the court adjourned till Wednesday morning, when the criminal docket will be called. It is probable that the remainder of the week will be devoted to jail cases. After these are tried an adjournment will be had until the 30th of December. On that day the regular criminal term will begin. All the business on the dockets will be disposed of, even if the session lasts six weeks. With the end of this session ends Solicitor (elem's term of service. His successor, Mr. Frank O'Brien, will assume charge of his office with the opening of the spring term of court.

In the superior court, Judge Marshall J. Clarke, presiding, the case of Tretbar vs. Degive was concluded. The jury failed to render a verdict up to the time of closing court, and a scaled verdict will be returned this morning, if an agreement is reached during the night.

Casar Hammond and Moses Rambaugh, two colored men who were adjudged to be insane by a jury de lunatice inquirendo, were yesterday committed to the state lunatic asylum by Ordinary Calhoun.

The Grand Jury did not meet yesterday, and will not come together before the 10th of January, unless sooner convoked by Solicitor General Hill.

It is no uncommon thing to see hundreds, yea thousands of people, rushing in and out of the leading dry goods houses of our city, but when you see hundreds of leasy people hurrying in and out of a retail grocery store, you must come to the conclusion that there must be a magnet, a something to draw, else there would not be such a tremendous rush for groceries; but when you consider the magnet, the low prices for fancy groceries, the best groceries, the actual necessities of every day life, offered by Hoyt & Thorn, the low cash grocersyou at once appreciate and say with everybody, what a mammoth business they are doing, Such is the case. We are doing more business than we ever did, and our trade increasing daily. This week we will run eightor ten wagons, or as many as are required to deliver our goods with dispatch. We have now 21 men connected with our establishment and hope to have 41, so let the good work go on and economise, it is wealth.

During this week bargains in groceries will be numerous. Royal layer figs, triple crown, worth 30 cents per pound, for 20 cents per pound. Christmas coffee, fresh parched. Dehesa cluster raisins, worth 35 cents per pound, for 25 cents; Connoisseur will be sold at the same price. Vastizza currants, 3 pounds for 25 cents. Beantiful Leghorn citron still selling for 25 cents, is worth 35 cents. The best even mixture of all kinds of new nuts, worth 30 cents per pound, will be sold for 17½ cents. Oranges, large oranges, 13 will be sold for 30 cents. Thuber's plum pudding, Atmore's plum pudding, all size cans, 10 cents cheaper than usual price. Larrabee's fruit pake, from 2 to 5 pounds, in handsome cans, only 40 cents per pound. Turkeys by the dozen and Cape Cod cranberries, dark herry, dry and fresh, only 15 cents per quart. Don't forget your celery, we will have an abundance to supply the whole trade of the city. THE WATER BOARD.

The Gentlemen Who Were Elected by the General Council.

ONLY ONE OLD MEMBER RETURNED The New Board to Organize Next Month-Who the Members Are-Other Mat-ters About the Board.

The board of water commission elected by the general council yesterday will qualify next month, and then organize. Only one old member is on the board.

The board of water commission has been composed of Colonel G. W. Adair, Judge C. C. Hammonk, and Hon. E. E. Rawsen, since

C. Hammolk, and Hon. E. E. Rawson, since the time "when the memory of man-ran not to the contrary," or words to that effect. These gentlemen, with Mr. Culpepper as clerk, have managed the Atlanta waterworks, and have done their work well.

But the old trio has been broken up.

Of the old board Colonel Adair was a candidate for re-election from the first ward, and was nominated by Mr. Tanner in a neat and complimentary speech. But he was defeated, Mr. Rice, who cast the last vote, had it in his power to elect either Mr. Middlebrooks or Colonel Adair, and selected Mr. Middlebrooks. The member from the first is well known in Atlanta, and highly esteemed. He was once a member of the general council and is the gentleman who created the warden of the poor. Mr. Middlebrooks is in the grocery business on West Peters street.

nock, the only one of the old board

West Peters street.

Judge Hammock, the only one of the old board retained, is well known as Atlanta's ex-mayor, who has always been "all right on the water works." He knows that fish pond mighty well.

The third ward member, Mr. Zach Smith, resides on Houston street, and is well known as one of the most faithful employes of the Richmond and Danville railroad.

[Bir. Howell C. Erwin, who defeated Mr. W. A. Ozburn in the fourth ward, is a well known young atterney with a long list of friends.

Mr. M. L. Collier, the fifth ward member, has been with the Western and Atlantic road for years, and is a success wherever he goes.

The sixth ward member, Mr. Joel Hurt, is one of Atlanta's most progressive citizens, and is well known among insurance men.

The board will organize in January by electing a chairman and secretary. Judge Hammock will in all probability be chosen chairman. Whether a member of the board will be made secretary, or an outside party, cannot be predicted. The secretary will receive three hundred a year.

Lung Troubles and Wasting Diseases can be cured, if properly treated in time as shown by the following statement from D. C. FREEMAN, Sydney: "Having been a great sufferer from pulmonary attacks, and gradually wasting away for the past two years, it affords me pleasure to testify that Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lime and Soda has given me great relief, and I cheerfully recommend it to all suffering in a similar way to myself. In addition, I would say that it is very pleasant to take."

The Central Presbyterian Sunday School elemn memorial services were held in the tral Presbyterian church in honor of Mrs. H. Anderson, a faithful and beloved her in the Sabbath school connected with church.

W. H. Anderson, a faithful and beloved teacher in the Sabbath school connected with that clurch.

Dr. Newton submitted the subjoined resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

The augel of Death has again passed through this school, bringing a measage to another teacher that her work is faished.

On Saturday, December 10th, after a short illness, Mrs. William H. Anderson quietly left us for her eiernal home. Her voice will join in that everlasting anthem of "Glory to God in the highest, and one arth peace, good will toward men," a loving benediction over her bereaved family and friends on that day when the earth is full of joy, that a Savior was born to mankind;

Very sadly we turn to the various departments of church work, where she was a faithful, conscientious worker. In this Sunday school we have lost an earnest teacher, one whose silent influence will long linger, an example to teachers and children for a more consecrated and concentrated effort in the discharge of their duty. Mrs. Anderson was a woman of very decided traits of character. Original and entertaining in conversation, she was at all times a welcome guest. Her kind, loving heart gave us a feeling of periect trust. In the sick room she was an angel of mercy, gentle and soothing in her ministrations. She was like a gleam of sunshine from the outside world, filling the room with a brightness that tinted the weary hours with the memory of some bright saying or kind word that made the pain seem less hard to bear, and the sick always wished that she would come again.

In the loss of such a woman, this Sunday school decems it a zad privilege to pass the following resolutions.

Whereas, in the providence of God, He has removed by death from our mids, our beloved friend lutions.

Whereas, in the providence of God, He has removed by death from our midst, our beloved friend and co-laborar. Mrs. William H. Anderson.

Be it resolved: 1st, That while we bow submissively to God's holy will, we deeply deplore the loss of her Christian life, example and advice to this school, her life testified to the religion of Jesus Christ which she professed.

2d. That a copy of these proceedings shall be recorded in the books of the school, also a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

Counterfeit Money and Counterfeit Men. Tom Ballard was let out of prison last July; Charles; Fluerch, Brockaway and Pete McCartney since. These four men have made more counterfelt money than any other four men living, and when one reflects that the appropriations for the secret service has been reduced from $150,000 to $65,000 a year, necessitating the discharge of more than half the former force, and one recollects the old saying; "if you chain the bounds the foxes and rabbits will play and increase their depredations." Therefore 1 uting these two facts together we should look well at our money and learn how to tell a good bill or coin.

From the Baltimore American.

Messrs. Wm. Knabe & Co. have just furnished to Gov. Beaver, of Pennsylvania, a beautiful upright grand piano, ordered by him for the executive mansion at Harrisburg. The case is of artistic style in rich variegated rosewood, and the instrumental part of the highest order of merit, with a tone of very rich and sympathetic quality, and a touch of remarkable ease and elasticity. A very fine concert grand was supplied by them recently to Fitzbugh Lee for the executive mansion at Richmond, Va., which, excepting on some of the outside ornamentation of the case, is a fac-simile of the celebrated White House Knabe grand, the piano of president's mansion, described in our columns heretofore.

UTAH'S PETITION. tor Call Reads the Memorial-A Tilt Be-WASHINGTON, December 20.—Numerous petitions were presented in the senate from vari ons states in favor of Blair's educational bill, and also a petition from the citizens of Pennand also a petition from the cineus of remery vania protesting against the admission of Utah as a state.

Mr. Allison, from the committee on finance, reported a bill to regulate the importation of foreign merchandise and to secure uniformity in classifications thereof, and for other purposes (under the valuation bill). He said it was the original bill which affected materially the laws in reference to imports, and asked, in tiew of its Importance, that 10,000 extra copies be printed in pamphlet form. The bill was placed on the calendar, and the motion to print was referred to the committee on printing.

Mr. Allison, from the committee on appropriations, reported back the house joint resolution to pay employes of congress their salaries for the month of December. Passed.

Also the concurrent resolution for a holiday recess. He asked its immediate consideration.

Mr. Plumb objected, and the resolution was placed on the calendar.

Mr. Davis, from the committee on pensions, reported a bill to place the name of Mrs. Logan reported a bill to place the name of Mrs. Logan (widow of General John A. Logan) on the pen-sion roil at the rate of $2,000 a year, and asked for its immediate consideration. Mr. Perry objected, and the bill was placed on the calendar.

Mr. Davis also reported a bill to increase pension of Mrs. Blair (widow of General Frank P. Blair), and it was also placed on the calen-

Mr. Davis also reported a bill to increase pension of Mrs. Blair (widow of General Frank P. Blair), and it was also placed on the calendar.

Mr. Hampton from the committee on military affairs, reported a bill to transfer to the trustees of Porter academy certain property used for army purposes in Charleston, S. C. Placed on the calendar.

Mr. Edmunds asked that the postal telegraph bill, introduced by him, be taken from the table and referred to the postofice committee. He had intended, he said, to have submitted some brief observations on the bill, but trasting to the zeal and fidelity which the postofice committee had hitherto shown in lavor of some such measure, he thought he could safely send it without any preliminary observations, trusting that if would be discussed. The bill was so referred, as well as a bill on the same subject introduced by Mr. Cullom.

The resolution offered by Mr. Call yesterday to print in the Congressional Record the memorial of the constitutional convention of Utah was called up by that gentleman, who asked that if be now adopted.

Mr. Edmunds preferred that the resolution be referred to the committee on territories, which now had jurisdiction of the subject.

Mr. Call argued that it was due to a community of 200,000 people to have its views fairly presented. He understood that less than three per cent of these people were guilty of the practices, on the assumption of which the objection of the senator from Vermont was bused. He would now read the memorial to insure its publication in the Record and to show that there was nothing objectionable in It. He thereupon read the memorial. He added that the senator from Vermont knew that there was nothing objectionable in It.
